Preface

"I believe in

using my own brains exclusively and not my neighbors—
using school time for school work only—controlling the action of my tongue—being trustworthy—telling the truth the whole truth and nothing but the truth—giving my utmost support to all school work—being courteous in the halls, in the assembly, and in the classroom—keeping clean mentally and physically—being congenial and not snobbish."

This—our Viking creed—was designed to guide us through our lives—both in high school and afterwards, when we go out on life's journey in search of the best, as did the Viking pirates in their generation.

Because the name Viking is so familiar to all who attend
Puyallup high school, the annual class felt it would be appropriate to use the Viking theme for our book this year.

In Memoriam

In the passing of Irene Pulkrabek at Glencoe, Minnesota on August 23, 1949, Puyallup High School lost an outstanding teacher and the community an excellent citizen.

Miss Pulkrabek had taught in the commercial department for five years. She came to Puyallup from Wilbur, Washington where she had enjoyed a very successful teaching experience and had made many lasting friendships. At the time of her death she was on a leave of absence due to illness.

Miss Pulkrabek loved her work. She was one of those teachers first to be at her desk in the morning and the last to leave at night. She liked perfection. Any student taking bookkeeping or typing from Miss Pulkrabek would have a thorough understanding of the course when it was finished.

Although she devoted a major part of every day to teaching, she had many other interests. She enjoyed music, art, lectures, politics, and nature in all its aspects. She loved life.

One of the finest tributes came to her from a boy who had written a few months before she passed away expressing the hope that she would soon be well and back again because he wanted her as his teacher.

They Plan the Voyage

Probably no other group has had more major problems to deal with than the present administration and school board. During the past year the earthquake damaged the school buildings, and major repair work was necessary on the high school. The blizzard of January posed further problems, especially with the difficulty of keeping busses running and the extensive leaking of the roof of the high school. Then to top it all off the fire of February 10 destroyed the stage and the interior of the auditorium, making another major repair job necessary.

Many long hours have been spent by these men to cope with the extensive business necessary to keep the school running smoothly. Often theirs is a thankless task, because there are always those who criticize.

Mr. Hanawalt has the following message to the students who have been in Puyallup during the past year.

"We have often referred to our school system as a large family. We have encouraged in our students, faculty, and other personnel the family spirit at its best. We like each other and are therefore friendly to one another. We are loyal to everyone and to our entire group. We try to apply this loyalty not only to our school but to our community, state, nation, and the world. We try to analyze our problems carefully. We then make an effort to use our analysis as a basis to put things together in a better way. We are endeavoring to learn how to treat others like we, ourselves, would like to be treated. Relationships are all important. We are learning that an education is not at all just for knowledge and skill. The most important thing is what we do with what we know. E. Stanley Jones, who spoke to our senior high school student body said, 'The creed of today becomes the deed of tomorrow.' We are trying, then, to set up ideals today in school which will lead to the finest type of living as we take our places out in the world tomorrow. In our high school there has been a lot of living. We are trying to make it the finest type of living. As our seniors leave us at commencement time, we experience that same family feeling we have when someone leaves home. We wish you the best, seniors. May you be truly successful. Always remember that we will be glad to have you come back and visit us whenever you can."

They Chart the Course

In the days of the Vikings there was probably little need for officers, but as the world progressed and things became more complex, they became more and more essential. There are two examples of good, efficient offices in the Puyallup schools.

The first of these is the Superintendent's office, which plays an important part in the school's functions. There Mrs. Virginia Haynes, Mabel Guggisberg, and Gerry Maass handle much of the school's business. They take care of the school system's records, much of the mimeographing, and many other activities. This office is the center of activity for all the Puyallup schools.

More familiar to the average high school student than the Superintendent's office is the high school office. This is where Mr. Hansen and Mr. Hartung hold their frequent conferences and where students come for their excuses and to have problems settled. The principals and Mr. Whitesel are always helpful in ironing out difficulties which arise. Here Phyllis Jones and Ruth Ocheltree, the two secretaries, with help from the girls who work in the office, keep the high school records in order. Report cards, attendance slips, bulletins, the telephone, and the office record cards are only a small part of the duties of the secretaries and office girls.

Again this year Mr. Hansen has a message to the students expressed in the following words dated February 10, 1950.

"To the Members of the Class of 1950:

Tonight Puyallup High School suffered another major catastrophe. The fire which destroyed the stage and the auditorium was much more severe than the earthquake damage of April 13 last year. Out of the ashes and ruins will come a more beautiful auditorium than before. Puyallup High School may be down but it's never out. That's the spirit of Puyallup High.

My message to the seniors closely parallels this incident. In life we all have obstacles that have to be overcome. If we have the initiative, the will, and the determination to overcome them, it can be done. In your lives you will meet these obstacles. When they come, don't give up. Fight all the harder. May the spirit of Puyallup High always be a part of you."

Again the teachers of Puyallup have set a 100% membership record for their professional organization. For 28 years Puyallup has continued this record which is equalled by only one other city in the state. This includes a unified membership in the local, state and national associations.

During Education Week, a committee under the leadership of Percy Cox, worked with organizations in the town. At the same time, as guests of the Puyallup Chamber of Commerce, a group including Florence Pope, Paul Hanawalt, Kurt Bargmeyer, Mark Whitman and Dennis Gallagher gave a panel on the "Problems of Increased Enrollment in our Schools."

In December, the annual Christmas party of the association was held in the high school cafeteria. Lucky man at the party was a certain grade school principal who won the prize gift for the evening.

Serving as committee chairmen for the current year were: program, Helen Alexander; Americanization Education Week, Percy Cox; welfare, Maude Jacobs; foods, Jean Watson; decoration, Carol Snyder; social, Deane Healey; advisory, Walter Goplerud; legislative and public relation, Alden Vanderpool; group insurance, Charles Zafarani; Community Chest, Kurt Bargmeyer; salary, Bill Whitesel.

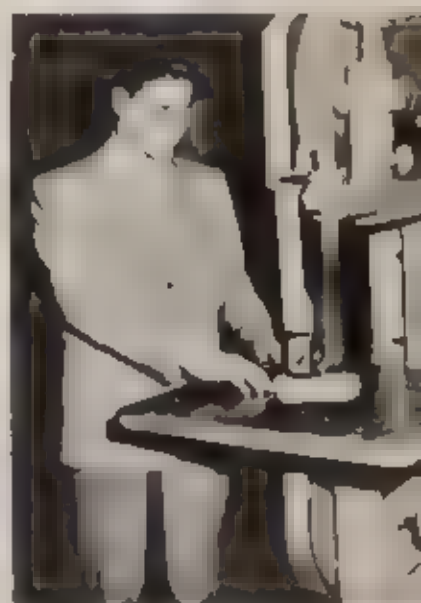

On the board of directors for the year were: Dennis Gallagher, president; Helen Alexander, vice president; Mary Radosovich, secretary; and Barbara Jerbert, treasurer. George Walter, Kurt Bargmeyer and Alden Vanderpool served as continuing members.

Deck Swabbers

Just as a Viking ship must be cleaned and kept in working order, so must the high school building. The custodians have been especially busy this past year keeping the school clean and warm. During the summer they had much added work because of the repair work that was done after the earthquake. The snow and exceptional cold of the past winter also added to their problems. There were walks to shovel, more time to be spent in heating, and the seemingly endless work of mopping up to do when the roof leaked. Certainly the custodians have proved to be a vital part of the school personnel.

In Charge of The Galley

Students in Puyallup might ask, "What would we do without the cooks?" In the old Viking days the stalwart pillagers needed to eat, and in this age the hearty "scholars" devour the satisfying meals prepared by the cooks in the cafeteria. In the picture the cooks are shown as they are ready to serve the hundreds of students who file by the counter each day. They are assisted by students who work in the cafeteria during the lunch hour.

As matron, Mrs. Rosemary Sherman is called upon to perform a variety of duties. She will be remembered by many as a comforting person when the problems of high school seemed great.

Vikings Ready for Conquest

There is a strange ringing still left in the ears of the students of Puyallup High School, for they can still hear the not soon to be forgotten sea chant—"We're on the run, we're on the go—1950." This is the yell that started it all.

The "1950 Viking" crew launched their ship back in 1946 by coming in first in the season ticket drive. Off to a good start, they found smooth sailing all through the year under the efficient leadership of their officers: Captain C. Morrison, First Mate W. Hunt, Quartermaster J. Brodigan, and Signalman J. Schaeffer, guided by their advisers, Miss Scheitlin, Miss Bowen, and Mr. Wasmund. Their freshman frolic, "Apple Blossom Time," received a first class honor rating, while members of the crew played on the junior high championship football and basketball teams.

The second year of their voyage started under the new leadership of Captain W. Hunt, First Mate J. Spear, Quartermaster L. Wagner, and Signalman E. Dall; advisers, Mrs. Case and Mr. Gasser. While cruising through Europe, they stopped over long enough to give a most successful dance, "The Holland Hop."

On the third leg of their journey they stopped in the South Seas only long enough to change officers; Captain H. Chipps, First Mate B. Clasby, Quartermaster J. Stelling, and Signalman E. Dall; advisers, Miss Sorenson, Miss Hayland, and Mr.

Catron. During their stay they presented the beautiful junior prom, "Orchids In The Moonlight." Due to circumstances beyond their control—the earthquake—the dramatic presentation, "A Date With Judy," was not given.

The ship then began the final months of its cruise. The cabinet shake up ended with Captain W. Hunt, First Mate B. Clasby, Quartermaster P. Palmer, Signalman T. Rudnick, and Signalman B. Osborn; advisers, Miss Skreen, Mr. Decker, and Mr. Dowie. Winning top honors in the season ticket drive and stunt assembly gave them a good start. On their way around Alaska the crew presented a fabulous senior ball, "Frozen Fantasy." The Thespians presented an extraordinary success, "The Dead of Night." Two members of the crew were outstanding in their work in the field of athletics; able-bodied seamen, Jim Ball and Sid Nomes, won all-state honors for their outstanding accomplishments on the football field. The rest of the team were sensational in winning the championship.

Now that the cruise has been more than successful and the men have returned home, they feel, and justly so, that it has been a job well done. Upon receiving their diplomas they start their biggest adventure of all—their cruise into life. This cruise will undoubtedly be successful for each and every member of this outstanding crew.

The class of '51 is nearing the end of the high school expedition, and the members are looking forward to their last year as seniors. This year's log contains many exciting and successful events, according to the class members.

To start the year off with a bang the juniors achieved second place in the season ticket drive, coming in behind the seniors. They also were a jump behind the winning seniors in the stunt, with their portrayal of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Their play and dance in the spring were also never-to-be-forgotten events for these well-seasoned members of the Viking clan.

Freshmen

The freshman class of up and coming Vikings are now at the close of their junior high training and are ready to step to the senior high. As top men on the south side of the building, they have provided leadership in most of the activities there. In the work of the junior high student body and its board of control these ninth graders have demonstrated their school spirit. As the backbone of the football, basketball, and track squads, they have contributed to the athletic tradition of the Baby Vikings. They came in fourth in the season ticket drive, but they gained third place

This year's eighth grade had a little more confidence, after one year of "running the ropes." Like the seventh grade, they are divided into groups which have their own officers, rather than having leaders for the entire class.

J-10 started the year out by winning the junior high season ticket drive. Representatives from this class on the gridiron and the basketball floor promise the Viking varsity squads some great athletes in a few years.

The yell of this class, "Clear the way, open the door, Here comes the class of '54," could always be heard from the "shelf" at the beginning of the assemblies. After a good start, this group promises to live up to the traditions of the Vikings.

Ascending the Gangplank

All senior high students remember those never-to-be-forgotten days when they dashed into strange classrooms and bumped into even stranger people and ended the days in a complete maze. The new Vikings who were this year's seventh graders had the very same difficulties, but they have become active members of the Viking crew during the past school year.

These students showed enthusiasm in their support of the season ticket drive. J-2 came out above the other seventh grade groups in the seventh and eighth grade contest. At assemblies "standing room only" was the lot of these newcomers, but they took up their stations along the walls.

Democracy in Action

"Mr. Chairman, I think the student body should buy a bulletin board to be erected on the front lawn. It would contain a schedule of the day's events, and people would then know what is going on in the high school." Thus speaks one of the members of the Board of Control, where problems of all kinds are brought up for discussion.

Student body officers, elected by all the students, and representatives from all the senior high homerooms make up this group. Upon them falls the responsibility of dealing with problems that arise in connection with student affairs. Some of these arise in homeroom discussions, and others come up during the Board of Control meetings.

Good sportsmanship at games was stressed by the group this past year. Other problems included those like securing stage curtains, erecting a flagpole at Viking field, seating at football games, and providing a typewriter for the annual class.

Serving as chairman of the Board of Control and of assembly meetings was Doug McGrath, student body president; Harold Chipps was vice-president; Luella Wagner served as secretary, and Ron Scamfer and Elaine Chipps were yell king and queen.

Representative Government

Unity in the junior high student body is achieved in much the same way as it is in senior high through the work of the Board of Control. Representatives from the homerooms plus the student body officers make up this group each year.

An opportunity to experience democracy in action is provided when problems are brought up in the homeroom discussions and then referred to the Board of Control. Homeroom voting determines the stand which the representative will take on the issues which are discussed by the board.

During the past year the group has helped to check lockers, making sure that the locks were used. They have tried to do something about some of the common problems like running in the halls and using rubber bands, and they have worked to promote better sportsmanship at games.

As president of the student body, Bob Dall has presided at the meetings of the Board of Control and also over junior high assemblies. Other officers were Donna Bell, vice-president; Shirley Ayers, secretary, and Carol Worswick, yell queen. Mr. Hartung and Mrs. Rentsch served as faculty advisers of the group.

SECOND YEAR JOURNALISM

Larson, Moore, Meier, Torkelson, Nelson, Goff, Osborn, Mr. Simons, Keene, Rudnick, Hora

Many hours after school and at night were spent working on the VIKING VANGUARD by members of the staff. Since only two of the students in second year journalism had taken the course previously, the problems presented were new and strange to them.

Amazement plainly showed on their faces when such terms as dummying, copyreading, proofreading galleys, and finding cuts and mats for ads, were used. However, it didn't take long for them to become familiar with using as well as putting into practice these phrases.

For the twelfth consecutive year the VANGUARD again received an All-American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association for last year's issues of the paper. This proves that the efforts of the staff members are not in vain.

Joan Moore held the position of editor-in-shief. Other staff members and their positions were Elsie Keene and Bonnie Osborn, news editors; Pearl Torkelson and Joyce Nelson, feature editors; Jerry Larson and Treva Rudnick, sports editors; and Venetta Kunschak and Joann Snider, co-ad managers. Mary Louise Meier was circulation and exchange manager first semester. Assisting with this were Estellene Dall, Dick Huber and Warren Hunt. Serving as adviser for the publication was Paul Simons, who put in longer hours than anyone else.

Working outside of class to report events which occurred on the junior high side of the building were interested freshmen students who had a grade of "A" or "B" in English. The junior high staff this year was made up of all girls.

Though the snow lay on the ground and the weather was cold, the ad solicitors were not exempt from ploughing up town to see advertisers for the Vanguard. Since the publication is almost entirely dependent upon the income from advertising, the solicitors' work is very necessary for the maintenance of the paper. The staff taking journalism this year was not large enough to handle the advertising campaign, so volunteers were called upon from study hall.

Bob Goodale has been student photographer for both the annual and the Vanguard for the past two years.

Hard work on the school annual or paper won for the students pictured the honor of belonging to Quill and Scroll, an international honor society for high school journalists. Other qualifications are that the students be in the upper third of their class, be recommended by the adviser, and be approved by the national board. For the paper it is required that the student have at least 90 inches of print in the paper and submit a sample.

Since the group is so small they do not have officers or regular meetings. Membership fees are paid for by the annual and paper fund. This provides the member with a pin and a year's subscription to the Quill and Scroll magazine.

The Viking Staff

No doubt the ambition of every yearbook staff is to produce a bigger and better annual than any previous staff has been able to produce. This year's group of 22 students was no exception, as they started the year's work under the direction of the adviser, Palma Larson. The staff had a high goal to strive for, since the 1949 VIKING received an All-American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association.

Heading the staff as co-editors were Joan Moore and Joan Stelling, with Ron Scamfer as business manager. Other members of the business staff were Harriet Wilhelm, Marcia Norris, Barbara Eng, and Fred Frankhauser.

Members of the editorial staff and their positions were: Jean Wilhelmsen, faculty; Luella Wagner and Pat Palmer, seniors and girls' sports; Sharon Reitmeier, lower classes; David Curry, organizations; Venetta Kunschak, activities; Barbara Toburen, dramatics; Jack Tuttle, boys' sports; Joyce Tallman and Shirley Svinth, school life; and Warren Miller, music.

Gloria Williams worked on the dummy and the mounting of pictures. Division pages were drawn by Dale Anderson and Warren Wotton, with the advice of Gladys Sorenson. Bob Goodale was student photographer.

Viking Ladies & Viking Knights

To become a Viking Knight or Viking Lady is an honor all senior high boys and girls wish to attain. However, the membership of the two groups is limited—there are twelve V.K.'s and fourteen V.L.'s. Two members are selected from each senior high class by election each year and they retain their membership as long as they are in school. The president of Girls' Club and the sports' manager for G.A.A. automatically become V.L.'s.

For twenty-four years these two groups have been seen throughout the school in their traditional blue and white sweaters and have been idolized by many students as true Vikings.

In keeping with the Viking creed these girls and boys strive to be friendly and courteous as well as to carry out their assigned duties—ushering at plays and games, cleaning the trophies, and helping keep the school clean.

Officers of the V.L.'s this year were Pat Young, president; Shirley Young, vice-president; and Diane Dracoby, secretary-treasurer. The group was advised by Barbara Jerbert.

V.K. officers were Bob Clasby, president; George McQueen, vice-president; Harold Lago, secretary; and John Spear, treasurer; with Don Hartung as adviser.

Promoters of Friendship

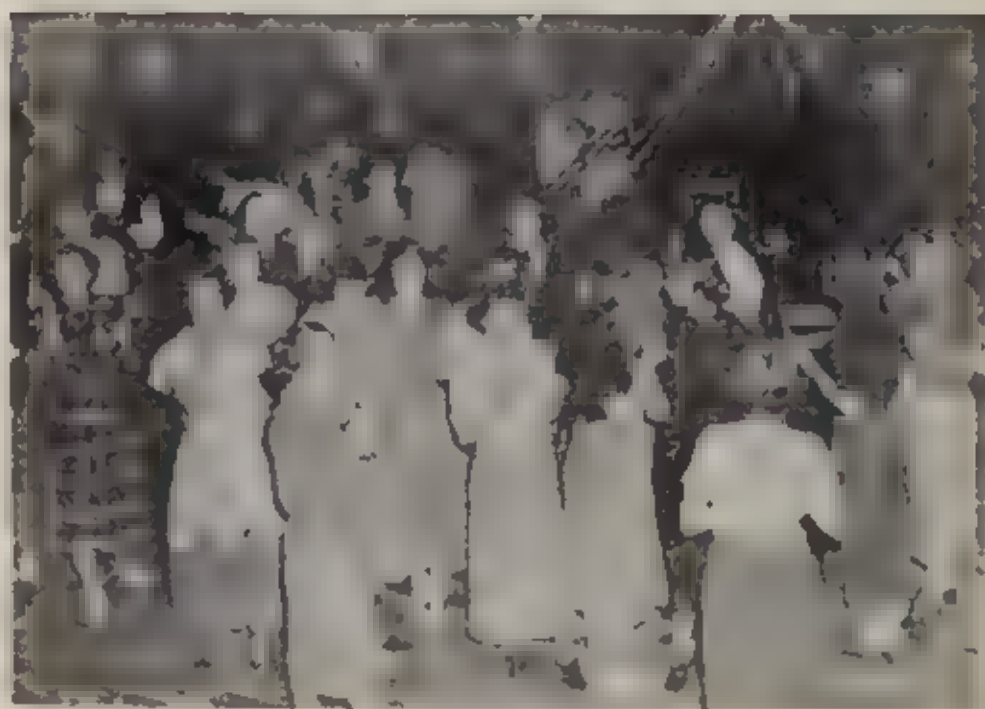

Every year the Senior High Girls' Club sponsors three major activities. The first of these is the mixer which is held in the fall. Last fall they had a "Merry Mixup" theme, with refreshments served from a "Merry Mixup" stand which had been set up in the gym. Guests of the club at the mixer are the sophomore girls and any new girls in senior high, and by this means they are welcomed into the school.

Another major activity is the decoration of the halls at Christmas time. A tree was set up and decorated in the foyer, and the halls were decorated with ivy and fir bows. This year a Santa Claus scene was painted by several of the girls and placed in the lower hall so all who came in the front door could see it.

The third event of importance to Girls' Club members is the annual Mother and Daughter tea which is held in the spring. Last year the girls carried out an attractive "Lilac Time" theme in their decorations for the affair which was held in the school cafeteria. Mothers of the girls were guests and a program was presented which included the installation of officers. Another tea was planned for this spring.

Each year a Girls' Club conference is held for the Puget Sound League schools, and the Puyallup girls either act as hostesses or send a delegation. This year the conference was held at Highline, and 16 Puyallup girls and their adviser attended.

Officers for the past year included Nancy Rickert, president; Treva Rudnick, vice-president; Joan Stelling, secretary; and Harriet Cook, historian. In addition to these elected officers the cabinet includes the chairmen and co-chairmen of the various committees. Gertrude Hansen acted as adviser for the group.

Girls Seek Companionship

Holly wreaths deck the halls at Christmas.

Another scene from the tea.

Pumpkins, pie tins, funnels, pastry brushes, ribbon, flowers, and many other items were used to make the novel hats which were entered in the hat contest which was a part of the Mother and Daughter tea held in the cafeteria last fall. This was one of the main affairs sponsored by the Junior High Girls' Club during the past year, and about 250 girls and their mothers were present. Mothers of the new girls and of the seventh graders were special guests at the event. Later some of the girls modeled their hats at a meeting of the P.-T.A.

Another project for the year was the decoration of the halls on the junior high side for the Christmas season. Wreaths were made by the girls and placed above the door to each room to create a festive appearance. Meetings were held once a month, and an attempt was made to secure prominent business women to speak on subjects of interest to the girls.

When girls enter the Puyallup Junior High School, they automatically become members of the Girls' Club. Representatives to the cabinet from each homeroom are selected by the girls, and they also have their elected officers. During the past year Enid Watkin was president; Catherine Casteel, vice-president; Shari Hartman, secretary; and Delores Martin, yell leader. Again this year Mrs. Rentsch served as adviser.

Doubletalk? No. You could have heard Director Ed Krenz giving instructions of this kind almost any day of the year in Room 313 when the Puyallup High School band was rehearsing for one of its numerous performances.

The Western Washington Fair was the scene of the 1949-50 band's first public appearance. Then followed many other performances, including playing at pep assemblies and basketball games, marching and playing at football games, and marching in the Daffodil Festival parade.

High points of the year were the seventh annual Swing Concert, the annual Spring Concert, and the Western Washington Band Contest.

Parade of Strings

Strains of such tunes as "Yesterdays," "The Way You Look Tonight," "The Cat and the Fiddle," and "Carmen" will linger in the memory of many a Puyallup concert-goer as trademarks of the 1949-50 version of the Puyallup High School orchestra.

The orchestra started the year by playing at the Western Washington Fair, followed by performances at the alumni assembly and the seventh annual Swing Concert. As part of the program at the latter appearance, they played two of Director Ed Krenz's own arrangements. In May they performed in the Spring Concert and participated in the Western Washington Orchestra contest.

Senior high instrumental soloists and ensembles received the following ratings in the solo and ensemble contest at Highline March 4: Superior—Don Cook, cornet; Warren Miller, flute; Janet Ward and Ruth Neeley, piano; and Joy Sherman and Gertrude Iverson, baton twirling. Excellent—Glen Breitsprecher, trombone; Jacklyn Richter and Warren Wotton, piano; Geneal Burzloff, oboe; Kenny Brock, alto saxophone; and the flute-violin-piano trio, composed of Warren Miller, Joyce Peoples, and Gail Beauchamp. A Cappella Choral Masters

The Senior High A Capella Choir, a mixed group of 54 vocalists picked from the chorus and theory classes and directed by Louis Owens, was a very busy group this year.

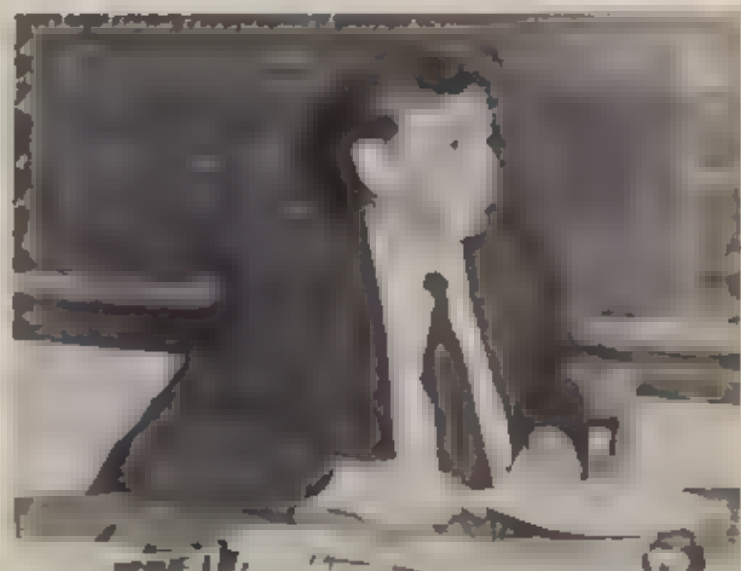

School had just started when the choir traveled to Jason Lee Junior High School in Tacoma to perform for the Pierce County Teachers' Institute. Then followed the Christmas program, in which the group sang such songs as "Adoramus Te" and "I Wish You a Merry Christmas."

Included in the choir's list of performances were appearances at two Kiwanis meetings and one P.T.A. program. On April 22 the group competed in the vocal music contest at Renton. Most of the choir members were also very active in the staging of VIKING VARIETIES, and they appeared in the yearly Spring Concert in May.

Some of the group's outstanding members sang in the Festival Chorus and participated in the Western Washington Solo and Small Ensemble Competition Festival at Highline on March 4. They received the following ratings: Superior—

Judy Martin, girl's low voice; and Joyce Peoples, girl's high voice. Excellent—Harriet Cook and Joyce Tallman, girl's high voice; and Marlene Long, girl's low voice. Good—Bob Logan and Curtis Squires, boy's high voice; and Calvin Davidson, boy's low voice.

Those masculine voices you heard sounding forth from Room 311 every Tuesday and Thursday morning before school this year were those of members of the Senior High Boys' Glee Club, directed by Louis Owens.

At the Christmas program, which was their first performance of the year, the glee club sang three English Christmas carols, "Wassail," "Good King Wenceslas," and "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen." The other big activity for the group was VIKING VARIETIES, in which they sang "Lovely Bunch of Coconuts," "Romona," "Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," and "Dear Old P. U.," a take-off on "Now Is the Hour."

Two other groups which might often have been heard harmonizing were the Girls' Nonette and the Boys' Double Quartette. Members of these groups are selected from a large field of aspirants at the beginning of each school year.

There is practically no club or organization in or around Puyallup which has not been entertained by either of these groups or by both, since they often sing as a single unit. These musicians also formed the nucleus for the cast of the 1950 production of VIKING VARIETIES.

During the past year the Nonette received the additional honor of an excellent rating for their singing in the Western Washington solo and ensemble competition at Highline.

Junior High Music Makers

Future Nonette, Double Quartet, and VIKING VARIETIES stars are in the making in the two junior high vocal groups — the Junior High Chorus and the Junior High Girls' Glee Club. Members of these groups will be the backbone of Puyallup High's vocal music in 1954 or '55. These will be the future Buzz Schacherers, Harriet Cooks, and Ron Scamfers.

The Junior High is the chief training ground for senior high vocal activities. Director Louis Owens gets some of his biggest thrills from watching the various voices develop and change, wondering whether Johnny Jones will turn out to be his prize tenor or bass.

In addition to singing, many other phases and fundamentals of music are studied, such as reading music and expression signs. Music appreciation is also learned.

This year's Junior High Chorus enrollment of 85 was the largest in Puyallup High School history, a fact which insures continued high quality of music at P.H.S. Stephen Foster songs, Negro spirituals, and religious songs were favorites of the group. The high point of the year was the annual Spring Concert performance.

Sixty-five girls greeted Mr. Owens every Wednesday and Friday morning at 8 o'clock when the Junior High Girls' Glee Club met to sing such selections as "Come Down to Kew" and "Compassion." These young vocalists were prominent in both the Christmas program and the Spring Concert. Letters were awarded to all members meeting the set attendance requirements.

A disc jockey radio show was featured as the theme of the 1950 version of VIKING VARIETIES, directed by Louis Owens.

The show consisted of ten acts, in between each of which disc jockey Buck Tilner announced the next act to his "listeners" on Station KNUTS. These announcements were interspersed by witty comments and commercials. Included in the acts were the Drug Store scene, "Victor Herbert Favorites," "We've Come From the City," "A Pretty Girls is Like a Melody," "The Shipwrecked Sailors," and "A Bird in a Gilded Cage."

The production was built around members of the Senior High Choir and Boys' Glee Club, along with other specialty students. It was presented three times—at matinee and two evening shows in the high school gymnasium.

Unable to be moved from the Stanley's home after slipping on their walk, Sheridan Whiteside—lecturer, orator, outstanding radio man and wit—literally took over the entire household, forcing the Stanleys to move upstairs. His efforts to dissolve the budding love affair of Maggie, his secretary, his interference in the family life of the Stanleys, and his many famous visitors with their unusual presents kept the household in a constant uproar and the audience who attended the play well entertained.

Under the direction of Deane Healey, "The Man Who Came to Dinner" was produced by an all-school cast in the Little Theater for ten performances, from March 22 through April 4. Originally scheduled for earlier presentation in the auditorium, the play was adapted for the Little Theater performance following the destructive fire of February 10.

Sheridan Whiteside was portrayed by John Spear; the part of Maggie Cutler was taken by Connie Colin; Mrs. Ernest W. Stanley was De Vonne Oestreich; Miss Preen, Marcia Norris; Richard Stanley, Leonard Sienkiewich; June Stanley, Marlene Foster; John, David Hutchinson; Sarah, Shirley Bell; Mrs. Dexter, Norma Snider; Mrs. McCutcheon, Treva Rudnick; Mr. Stanley, Cal Davidson; Dr. Bradley, Roger Anderson; Harriet Stanley, Ruth Schakohl; Bert Jefferson, Harold Marcoe; Professor Metz, Robert Logan; Prisoners, Bob Goodale, Bill Finch, and Jerry Murry; Mr. Baker, Kendall Clement; Expressman, Fred Corwin; Lorraine Sheldon, Joy Casto; Sandy, Don Nau; Beverly Carlton, Buck Tilner; Westcott, Buddy Wetzel; Radio Technician, Jim Schaefer; Deputies, Boyd Brock and Bill Finch; Plain Clothesman, Jerry Murry.

Sliding panels, dead bodies, long hat pins, howling winds, and startling screams combined to make the senior class play, "The Dead of Night," a chilling success. The three-act play was presented December 2 in the high school auditorium by the senior class under the direction of Deane Healey, dramatics coach. Phyllis Erickson acted as student promptress.

The plot is centered around the murder of two persons—Jake Monroe (Doug Ritchie) and Joey Baldwin (Ronnie Scamfer). Adam Glasset (Roger Anderson), town constable, had the task of trying to find the murderer. One of those under suspicion was Martha Baldwin (Joan Stelling) because the murders were committed with her hat pin. Her main defender was David Carruthers (Fred Corwin), who was in love with her. Sarah Watkins (Shirley Svinth), the maid, adds comedy to the tense situation when she gives accounts of all the conversations she has overheard.

Other characters were Allen Richards (Buck Tilner), Donald Hull (Buzz Schacherer), Lela Chapman (Lorraine Cluff), and Ruth Nash (Bonnie Osborn).

Publicity

Weeks before a school production, you will see big posters in store windows, signs on the bumpers of cars, pictures in the papers, and newspaper stories about coming events around school. This work is done by the publicity committee and their adviser, Irene Fearn.

Different divisions and their chairmen for the past year were: program (make up), Harriet Wilhelm; folding, Ruby Thompson; posters (downtown), Dale Anderson; posters (outlying), Nancy Rickert; bumper strips, Warren Wotton; write ups (Tacoma), Elsie Keene; write ups (Puyallup), Gloria Anderson; program covers, Buzz Schacherer; window displays, Shirley Rensing; ads, Patty Van Horn; and cuts, Buck Tilner.

Properties

"Do you have a gun I may borrow?" Such a remark does not mean that someone in the school is contemplating murder or suicide.

It is often necessary to gather quite a number of properties for musical and dramatic productions. These range in nature from mummy cases, guns, and wheel chairs to cookies and grape juice.

In charge of the collection of this variety of items is the property committee, advised by James Hatton and Dan Ranniger. They also have the job of keeping the property room in order. During the past year they worked especially in securing the necessary properties for the senior play, the all-school play, and VIKING VARIETIES.

Make-Up Club

When you see students running around wearing grease paint, mustaches, or false eyelashes the afternoon or night of some play, you will know that the make up committee has been at work.

The job of this group is to make all students in the productions really look like the characters they are portraying. In order to do this well the committee members must be given the proper training, which includes practicing on each other and studying the characters of the plays in order to know how to make them up. Miss Hansen acts as adviser for this group.

Usherettes

Assisting the Viking Ladies with their various duties at dramatic and musical programs in the high school are the girls known as the usherettes. They help with the handing out of programs and the ushering at the many events during the school year.

These girls are juniors who are chosen each year by the V.L.'s. Qualifications which are considered in this selection are leadership, scholarship, citizenship, and character. While they are performing their duties, the usherettes are outfitted in dark blue sweaters and skirts. Barbara Jerbert has acted as adviser for this group, since she advises the Viking Ladies.

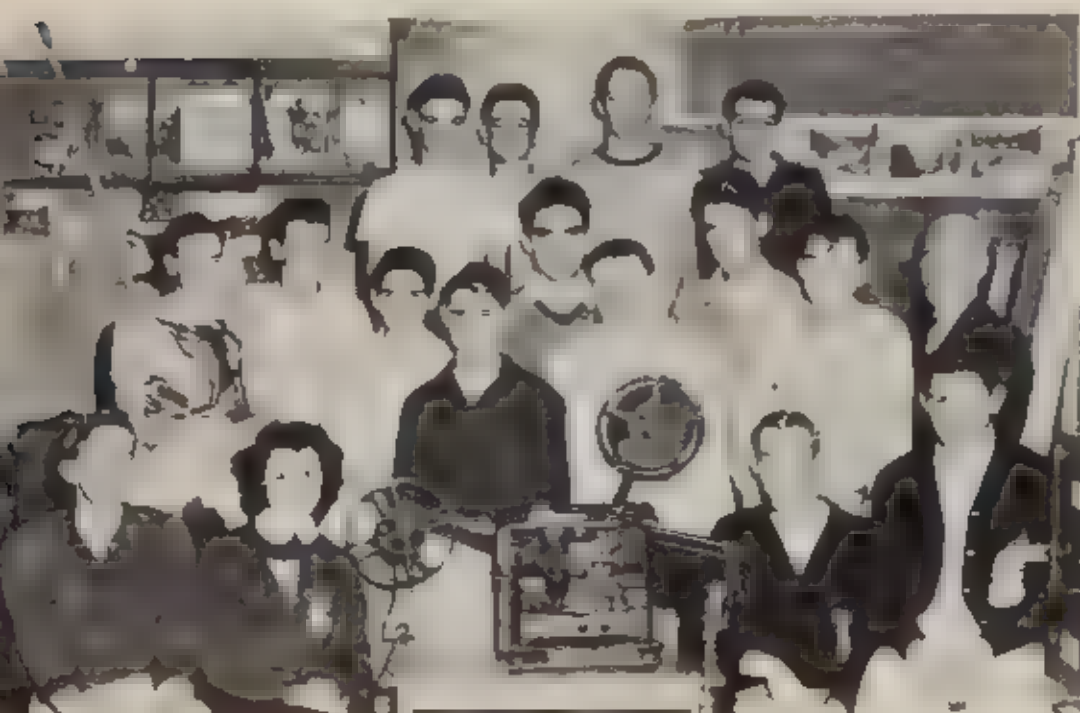

First Row: E. Shaw, Monahan, B. Hanson, Blubaugh, Salisbury, Peters. Second Row: Isaksen, B. Whitman, Pearson, C. Shipman, E. Satre, Geisert Third Row: D. Thomas, J. Todd, Mr. Hipkins, Cantrell, J. Olson, G. West.

Stage Crew

"Never give up" has been the motto of the stage crew boys and their adviser, Mark Hipkins, during the past year. Last spring the severe damage done to the stage by the earthquake made a great amount of extra work for the crew. Shortly after they had finished getting the stage in shape again, the auditorium was burned by the fire the night of February 10. Even more property on the stage was destroyed than by the quake.

Included in the work of the group is the building and painting of sets for the various productions on the stage. They also are responsible for getting the stage ready for all events that occur in the auditorium. This spring they have shifted their activities to the Little Theater and the gym.

Projection Crew

"We get to see all the movies that are shown in the school," chant the boys of the projection crew.

Yes, this is one of the few compensations of being a member of this group which has definite duties to be carried out. The equipment with which to show the films is heavy and has to be carried as far as third floor or the balcony. They also set up the loud speaking system for various school events. Much of their work is done before and after school and between classes.

These boys, under the direction of George Walter, have learned a great deal about the projection machines.

Viking Patrol

Viking Patrol, a three-year-old organization, has sixteen members under the leadership of Mr. Donald Rice. This is a service organization composed entirely of junior high boys, who must meet certain requirements. The main duties of this group are to help maintain order in the halls and on the stairs, to enforce rules concerning bicycles, and to usher at all junior high games. Maroon and gold sweaters were adopted as the official outfit for the group. Officers of the club for the past year were: Captain, Teddy Kerst; and Secretary-Treasurer, Bob Yates.

Viking Relics

Since no two museums are established in exactly the same way, each serves a different purpose. Ours is a "Teaching Museum," consisting of a general permanent collection of natural science, or natural history, with special emphasis on prehistoric people and materials representing historic cultures.

Museums of science and history appeal both to intellect and emotions, "giving enjoyment to those who seek enjoyment, and opportunity for study to those who seek knowledge."

Mrs. Bessie Mathews is now in charge of Puyallup's museum, and she has received student assistance during the past year from Dale Anderson and Calvin Shipman.

D. Anderson, Mrs. Matthews, Shipman.

Smoking Committee

The smoking committee consists of eight senior high boys who make up their own rules and regulations for smoking in the vicinity of the school. All boys belonging to this group have been chosen by the student body. The main duty of this committee is to see that the students follow the rules for smoking, and if they are broken to see that the student be punished. A person may be caught breaking the rules once and the smoking committee will, with the help of their advisers, decide the punishment. On breaking the rules a second time the student will be suspended from school until his parents have seen Mr. Hansen.

Officers for this group are: President, Harold Marcoe; Secretary, George Thrall; and advisers, Mark Whitman, Carl Sparks, and Mark Hipkins.

Horsemens Prepare to Travel

Beginning the activities of the year for the Latineers was the initiation held in the fall supervised by Miss Frieda Scheitlin.

Next on the list for the busy group was the annual Roman banquet held this year in the cafeteria. It is customary to serve the banquet Roman style with Roman food and Roman dress. A program including a movie and other entertainment was scheduled for their annual assembly.

The only qualification that must be met to join the club is that the student is taking or has taken Latin.

Officers this year included Buddy Wetzel, president; Ken Erickson, vice president; and June Mather, secretary-treasurer.

With the annual initiation in January at Martin's Rec the Spanish Club got off to a good start this year.

Not only did they hold a party at Pat Rowley's for their own entertainment, but they also scheduled an assembly for April for the enjoyment of the student body. A play constituted the largest part of the program.

Shirley Bell pounded the gavel at meetings, while Jim Connell stood by as her assistant. Nancy Turman took down the minutes, and Dean Melville handled the money. Barbara Jerbert was the adviser.

The qualifications for membership in Spanish Club are the same as for Latineers except for the difference in language.

Retailers . . .

Studying sales techniques, taking field trips, arranging displays, and putting into practice what they learned were among the activities of the retail selling class. They went to school in the morning and worked the rest of the day. During Christmas time the entire class had steady work. One girl, Barbara Lorenz, took high sales honors in a Tacoma department store for two weeks.

The highlight of the year is the State Retailers' Conference held in the spring. Puyallup's group is a member of the state organization of which Joan Parks was historian this year.

Pep Club

New yells and skits are what help to keep the rooting section peppy at games as well as pep rallies. To introduce these is the main purpose of the pep club. This group also forms a uniform rooting section for Puyallup.

This year the pep club tried to set a standard concerning rules and regulations for future pep clubs. Present plans include the continuation of the club in the future, since it has proved to be a help to the yell leaders.

Assistant Bibhothecaries

One of the first projects of the senior high librarians during the past year was the showing of the newly-acquired books at the annual tea given for the teachers. Food for the affair was prepared by the cooking class and served by the librarians.

A film strip explaining the library was secured from the visual education department and shown in all senior high English classes. This was accompanied by a talk by Miss Pfefferle.

Special assistance in filing books and magazines was given by Anna Mae Matta.

Under the leadership of Jean Watson, the faculty member in charge of the Junior high library, a busy year has been enjoyed by the junior high librarians. After they were selected by the eighth grade teachers last spring, they had a training period to acquaint them with the work. Only reliable and courteous students with a C average were eligible for the positions.

Since the group did not believe in all work and no play, the girls enjoyed Christmas and Valentine parties.

"Office!" "Puyallup High School!" So come the answers to the different phones in the principal's office from the girls who have voluntarily worked there during their study halls. Not only do the girls answer the phones, but they also do typing and some secretarial work.

Students of P. H. S. sometimes overlook many of their privileges and advantages. One of these advantages is the chance they have to buy a season ticket, which will admit them to all the home athletic games, school plays and Viking Varieties. For the small price of five dollars for grades 9-12 and only four dollars for seventh and eighth graders a season ticket can be purchased without paying cash. Those who wish to do so may pay for their ticket over a period of time. Payments are made to the board of control representatives in each homeroom.

Each fall the season ticket drive is held in which grades 9-12 compete to see which class can have the largest per cent of their members pledge for a ticket. Very few students do not pledge. Miss Margaret Hughes spends many hours working as adviser of the committee.

Robert Vollen and the girls of his committee sold tickets at all the home athletic events and dramatic productions throughout the year.

Future Farmers of America

Another most successful year was enjoyed by the Future Farmers of America, which is one of the most active organizations of the school.

Unlike any other school organization, the F. F. A. is very active during the summer, and last year was no exception. The members of this group exhibited 17 animal entries at four livestock shows. Three championships, 14 blue ribbons, four red, and one white ribbon were won on the animals during the summer. In September the F. F. A. won the championship award for their fair booth in the horticulture department.

The livestock judging team made up of Charles Barth, Wessel Kuper, and James Shoe placed first out of 39 to win the Carnation Judging Contest. At the Pacific International Livestock Exposition at Portland they placed second out of 67 teams from four states. Charles Barth was fifth high man out of 200 contestants. The poultry judging team placed fifth in a contest and won the second place banner for grading dressed chickens. Fritz Snider, Gale Holman, and Bill Christensen made up this team.

The biggest job of the organization was the drawing up of the work program for the year. This work is done by ten committees of which Ted Maloney was head. Mr. Jean and Mr. Badham were advisers.

Active Controversialists

"Madam chairman, honorable judge, and worthy opponents. The subject for debate today is, Resolved: That the President of the United States shall be elected by a direct vote of the people." These words were heard in many English and history classes this year on days when Puyallup's debate squad was in action against other schools.

Debate, a dormant activity last year, was successfully revived this year under the direction of Coach Jay Higbee, with Puyallup teams posting a season's record of 11 won, eight lost, and one tied. In league debates as a squad they won two, lost three, and tied two. Puyallup individual teams won eight, lost eight, and tied one in the league. Each individual team is made up of two members, and the league is made up of Highline, Kent, Auburn, Seattle Prep, Fife, Bothell, Mount Si, and Puyallup.

The Puyallup team traveled to Kent and Seattle Prep for debate meets, with the rest being held here. In each case the meets were three team affairs, with two teams debating at one time and the coach of the third team acting as judge. On March 10 and 11 the Puyallup squad participated in the College of Puget Sound open debate tournament.

Puyallup's teams and their season's records are listed below:

Olga Salonsen and Joy Gilmore won three and lost none in league debating and won two and lost none out of the league. David Hutchinson and Ken Erickson won three, lost two and tied one in league debates and won one non-league affair. Miriam Bearse and Estellene Dall compiled a two won and four lost league record. The teams of Miriam Bearse and Bernice Turner, and Pat Nichols and Bernice Turner each lost one league debate.

Future Homemakers of America

Have you donated to the Junior Red Cross?" Time and time again students were asked this by F. H. A. members who sponsored the drive. The total amount collected was $79. They also worked with the F. F. A. boys again this year to sell hotdogs. The group sent a delegate to the Southwest Regional Demonstration Conference and sent another member to the state meeting at Ellensburg in April. They also sponsored several demonstrations here.

Officers of the club were Virginia Irish, president; Mary Meier, vice-president; Jean Richen, secretary; Virginia Doran, treasurer; and Lorraine Cluff, music chairman. Miss Alexander acted as advisor.

Fifty-two junior high girls attended a pot luck supper sponsored by the junior high F. H. A. to help the girls get acquainted. The initiation of new members was held in February. Several girls went to the F. H. A. conference at Pullman, where they had charge of one of the round tables. They also put on a skit at the Southwest Regional Conference held at Fife.

Christian Youths Spread Friendship

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school and community high standards of Christian character" is the purpose of the HI-Y and Tri Hi-Y in Puyallup. All the clubs strive to achieve the three fold plan which includes the development of the mind, spirit, and body.

To begin the year a joint officer's training camp was held over the Labor Day Weekend at Lake Tapps. As a direct result of this conference the Pierce County Hi-Y Council was formed as a coordinating body for all the clubs. The president, vice-president, and three elected members of the clubs served on the council. Joint meetings were held with Sumner every two months, with city meetings in between.

Tri Hi-Y representatives from all the clubs journeyed to Longview for a conference, while the Hi-Y boys went to Aberdeen. All clubs took part in the "Youth in Government Program" held in Olympia.

The chartering system, which rates all the clubs according to the services they have rendered and attendance at meetings was adopted by the council. Any club is eligible to apply for a C, B, A, or AA charter.

Many services were performed by the clubs this year. One club presented the student body with a flag for Viking Field and erected a flag pole at the field. The gates at the field were painted by another group. During the snow a boys' club shoveled the snow from the sidewalks. Other services of the clubs included sponsoring students to boys and girls state, remodeling toys for orphanages, and donating to world service and the community chest.

Each club was scheduled to sponsor a special Friday night dance at the recreation center. Officers of the club served as the Rec Board, which controlled the recreation center.

Roy E. Richstad acted as General Secretary of the Y and Phyllis Blazer worked with him as Girls' Work Secretary.

This year the annual Father-Daughter and Mother-Son banquets of the Hi-Y's were combined into one which was held March 8 in the high school cafeteria. For the second year in a row Coaches Sparks and Harshman fielded a championship team. This is the first time in the history of the school that has been accomplished.

In a pre-season game with Bremerton, the powerful Wildcats dumped the Vikings 26-0. Second half spurts brought the Vikings 12-6 victories over Highline and Lake Washington. The following game the Auburn Trojans were overrun 20-0. The Viks next came out on top with a 13-7 win over Kent-Meridian. Battling in the fog the defending champs tripped the host Clover Park Warriors 9-0. Identical wins of 20-7 over Renton and White River followed before Sumner squeezed out a narrow 7-6 victory on Thanksgiving Day.

Varsity Understudies

Although this year's B squad was not a mighty powerhouse, winning only two games out of seven, it promises to produce many mainstays for next year's varsity. Providing the guiding hand in developing these boys were Coaches Wasmund and Whitesel. The coaches instructed the boys every night, teaching them plays and giving them a basic training routine. These boys received little recognition other than that given them in the football award assembly, since they do not receive letters.

Games this season were played with Stadium, Sumner, and Clover Park. Stadium gave the B squad particular trouble, leaving them on the short end of the score in all three tilts. Better results were gained in the games with Sumner and Clover Park, with Puyallup winning one and losing one to each school. A game scheduled with White River was cancelled.

Sharing captain's duties were Jack Burrell, Marcus Christie, and Ralph Morrisson. Sophomore managers this year were George Lange and Bill Finch.

Future Gridiron Champs

Under the capable guidance and coaching of Al Jacobs and Art Larson, the Baby Vikings—the junior high football team—enjoyed a somewhat satisfactory season in the fall of 1949.

Although their win and loss record was not the most impressive, this year's squad had many boys who will undoubtedly become important factors in the next two or three years on the varsity squad. Even though they won only two games this season, none of the losses sustained were by large scores. The entire South End of the

Puget Sound League was evenly balanced this year.

Each team in the league was played twice during the season. White River gave the Baby Viks particular trouble, dumping them in both their games. A split was gained with both Clover Park and Sumner. Puyallup's victory over the latter team came in a somewhat free scoring affair with five touchdowns being scored in the first half.

Bob Dall captained this year's team and the freshmen managers were Philip Curry and Clayton Sparks.

Varsity Basketball Squad

Playing somewhat off and on ball, the Vikings started their league season by winning the first four games by margins of never more than three points. After this the Viks went through the season's play, ending up in fifth place with a record of nine won and seven lost. Some well played games brought them victories over White River, Sumner, and Renton. During the league season Puyallup's opponents outscored the Vikings by a bare eight points, 600 to 592. The two top scorers for this season's play were Jim Ball with 203 points and Sid Names with 147.

An innovation in the league this year was the Sportsmanship Trophy which was presented to the school judged to have the best sportsmanship during all basketball games. This trophy was sponsored by the various Kiwanis clubs in the league. Each school was given a certain number of votes, and the result this year was that Puyallup was the winner.

Eleven letters were awarded this year, going to seniors Jim Ball, Sid Names, George Gorow, Jerry Thomas, Bob Swanson, Dick Huber, and Dan Hemmings; juniors Mel Piatote and Frank Lancaster; and sophomores Jerry Sullivan and Bob Iverson. The inspirational award winner was George Gorow, and Jim Ball was captain.

Playing the preliminary games ahead of the varsity again this year were Coach Bill Whitesel's B-Squaders who ended the season of league play with a ten won, three lost record. Topping the team in scoring was Fred Poe with 75 points.

Building a team around five returning lettermen, Coach Al Jacobs turned out a smooth-playing group of boys which swept through the South End division undefeated. The first league game of the season found them breezing past White River by a 29-22 verdict. Victories followed in this order: over Sumner 42-20; Clover Park 47-25 and 43-26; White River 30-15; and Sumner 36-32.

On March 2 the Baby Vikings traveled to Renton to determine the junior high champion of the Puget Sound League. At the end of the first half the South End champs found themselves on the short end of a 30-12 score. Finally finding themselves in the fourth quarter, they put on a mighty surge, only to fall short by 6 points and lose the game 47-41.

Named captain by his teammates this year was Keith Peterson who also led the scoring with 75 points. Jensen and Daugherty were second and third, with 58 and 57 points respectively. Lettermen this year were Dall, Bogrand, Jensen, Peterson, Daugherty, Tallman, Hammermaster, Gorow, Krummel, Hite, Hoover, and the freshman manager Rose.

Hit and Run

At the time of the publication of the VIKING in the spring of 1949, the final outcome of the league standing was not yet determined. After the sound of wood against leather had died and the dust had cleared, the Vikings emerged in a three-way tie for first with Renton and Enumclaw.

When the copy went to press this spring, the Viking baseballers were again enjoying a successful season. With a number of returning lettermen, along with some outstanding prospects, Coach Wasmund has molded a team which began the season with three wins in league play. A game with Renton was called in the early inning because of rain, but this game was to be replayed.

Several outstanding batsmen have studded the team this year to help back some good pitching by Sid Names and Max Braman. Senior members of the managerial staff this year were Art Foxford and Harold Rohlman.

Tape Breakers

Iverson pulls himself into a bundle as he skims the bar in the Conference Meet.

With a large turnout of boys, Coach Harshman's Viking track squad turned in impressive victories in their first two meets. In the third meet Clover Park and Renton came out ahead of the Vikings.

In the Centralia Relays Puyallup placed third out of 25 schools. The Junior 440-yard relay was won for the third time in four years by the Vikings.

In the Highline Relays the Vikings garnered fifth place out of thirteen competing schools. Following this a group of boys who had not yet earned letters traveled to Fife and subdued the hosts and Kapowsin. In a triangular meet at Highline, the Vikings bowed to Highline but finished ahead of Kent-Meridian.

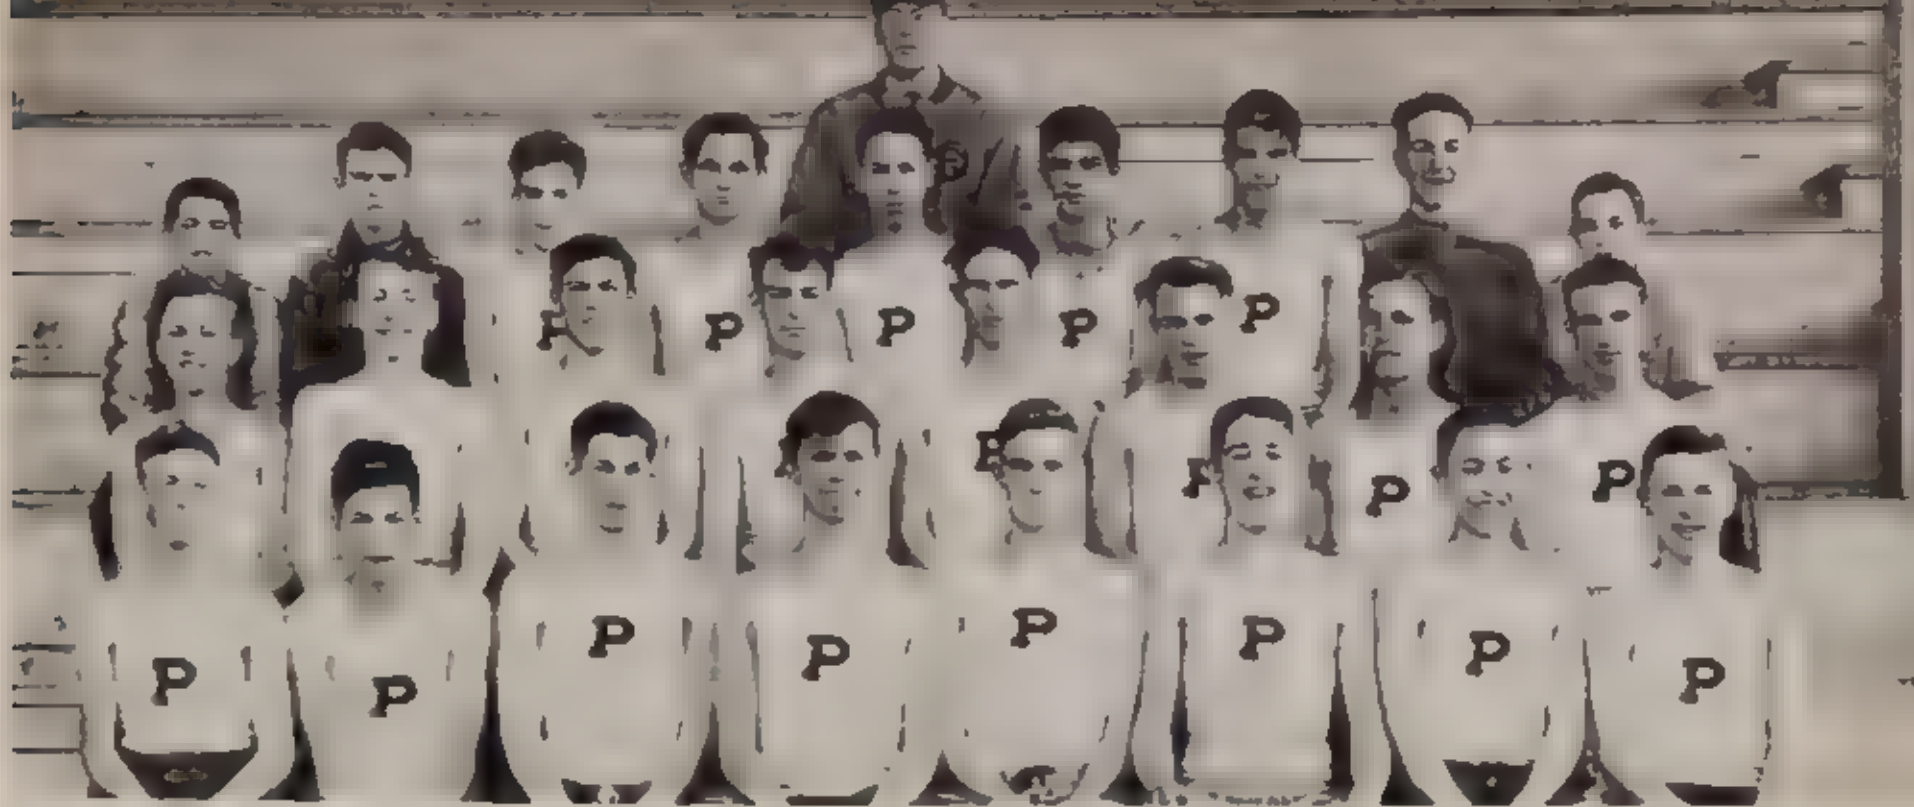

In the South End Qualifying Meet at Viking Field, Clover Park had 45 points; Puyallup, 37½; Sumner, 25; Auburn, 24½; and White River, 11. In the Conference Meet here it was Clover Park and Renton first. Puyallup tied with Sumner for fifth place honors, with three men qualifying for the West Central District Meet.

Cinder Men

Coach Art Larson again guided the Junior High Track team through a successful season, with the shuttle hurdle team doing especially well.

In the first meet of the year the Baby Viks come out on top with 45 points; Lake Washington, second, with 33; and Sumner had 12. Their second victory came in the next meet with White River and Puget Sound. Scores were 50½, 36½, and 3 respectively. In the third meet of the year Clover Park and Renton turned the tables on Puyallup to the tune of 41, 29½, and 19½ respectively.

Clover Park again edged the Vikings by a 40 to 30 score in a meet a little over a week later. Winning ways were found again at Highline by the score of 57½ points to Highline's 18½ and Kent-Meridian's 14. In the South End Qualifying Meet it was White River—29 1/5, Clover Park—29, Puyallup 26 4/5, Sumner—13, and Puget Sound—1. In the Conference Meet May 5 Puyallup placed fourth behind Renton, Clover Park, and White River.

Going into its third year the Puyallup tennis team began to show increasing strength. Coach Vollen has been working with his most promising candidates and this year the fruits of his work have begun to show. In the near future Puyallup should once again produce tennis teams that can be a challenge to any team in the league.

Mainstays throughout the year were Delores Sagmiller in the girls' singles; David Hutchinson, boys' singles; Dorothy Babnick and Janet Gregory, girls' doubles; Clio Maass and George Morgan, boys' doubles; and Donna Shipley and Roger Anderson in the mixed doubles. The boys' and girls' doubles teams were particularly strong. At the time of this writing each of the aforementioned teams had lost but one of its matches, including both the practice matches and the league matches. In preseason matches the Viking netmen split with Fife, each school winning one match. The first three league matches found Puyallup bowing to powerful Highline 1 to 4, swamping Auburn 5 to 0, and losing a close one to Kent-Meridian 2 to 3.

Fore!

For the first time in several years a golf team was formed to represent Puyallup on the grassy links. Mark Hipkins was chosen to coach the team, and practices were held at the Linden Golf course where the boys were ranked according to their ability. In the competition before the publication of the annual, the Puyallup team had defeated White River 15 to 0, winning all the games. They won over Lincoln in two matches, each with 8½ to 6½ points, and over Lake Washington 12 to 3.

Sumner, Enumclaw, Buckley, Clover Park, and Puyallup lunch together at the G.A.A. playday

The feminine athletes of this school began the year under the leadership of Treva Rudnick, president; Miriam Bearse, vice-president; Jayne Calligan, secretary treasurer; Genevieve Beyler, sports manager; and Miss Doris Pittman, adviser. Volleyball turnouts were first on the agenda, followed by the selection of class and honor teams. The coming of basketball season found the girls ready and waiting to get into the game. Most of the basketball turnouts were held at Maplewood school; and, because of the large number turning out, the games were shorter than usual.

Tumbling and ping pong began at once, giving the girls a choice. Besides the regular tumbling turnout, there was a tumbling team supervised by Mrs. Kern. Meanwhile the ping pong practice games were played and then the tournament began.

The latter part of the year was taken up by softball and tennis. The girls turned out for softball approximately three nights a week; while those turning out for tennis put in fifteen hours of practice. Girls playing on the tennis team also received points for G.A.A.

The new members of G.A.A. were initiated in February. Upon arrival at the school, they were all decked out in war paint and their hair was fixed with molasses and flour. Then, jumping rope, they were raced down town, stopping occasionally to do calisthenics. Then they went back to the school for cookies, punch, potato chips, and potato salad.

Necessary requirements for a girl who wants to become a G.A.A. member are: the girl must turn out for four of the six sports offered; she must earn one hundred and fifty points more by taking thirty-six mile bike rides or hikes, making an honor team, or participating in any one of several other outside activities offered. The girls must work to become members, and they must work to remain members.

Swinging into Action

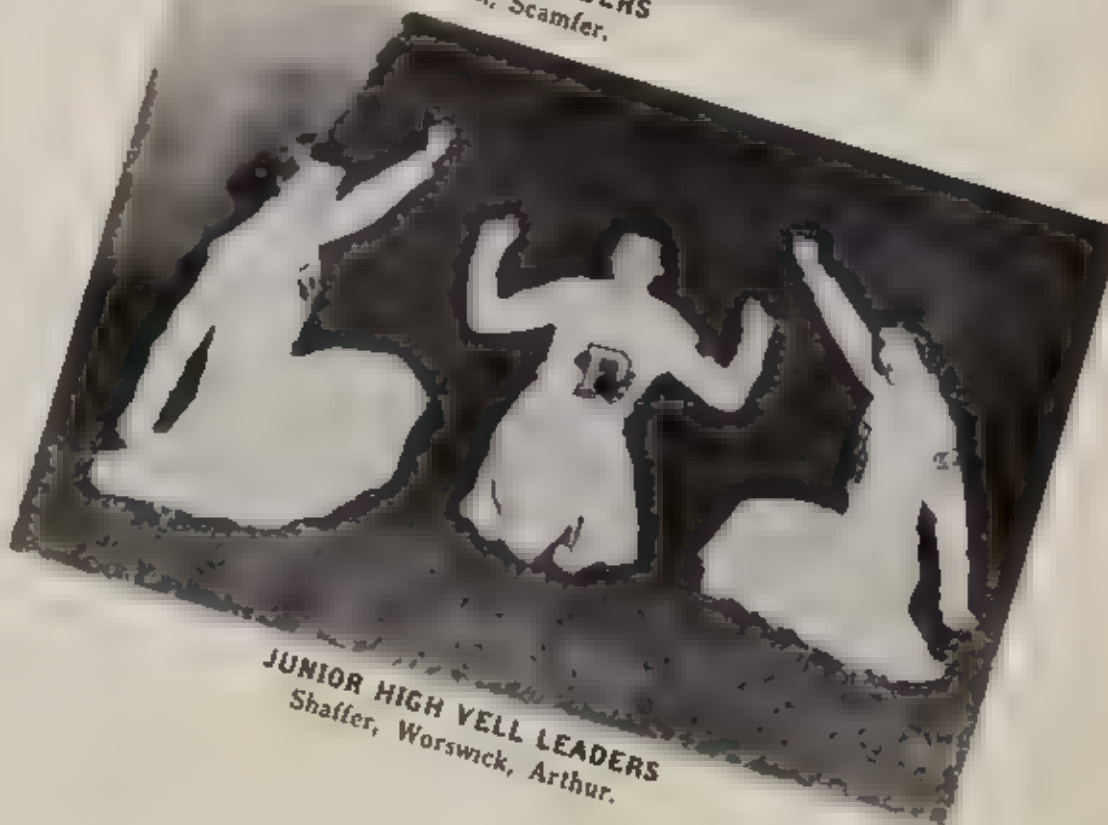

Seven bells, second watch, and thirty-three girls of varying sizes sleepily enter the gymnasium of Puyallup High School. These girls who turned out faithfully every Tuesday and Friday morning form the well-known drill team. The drill team this year performed at two football games, two basketball games, and in the rain which accompanied the annual daffodil parade. As the girls prepare to write finis to this year, they will stow away many fond memories of second watch, seven bells.

The Senior High Yell Team was composed of two boys and two girls. Despite the temporary loss of the King and Queen, Puyallup's leaders ended the year with a fine record.

Under the zestful leadership of an all-girl yell team, Junior High took top honors in the field of sports.

Phyllis Roney, valedictorian, has maintained a grade point average of 97.2 through her senior high years. In addition to this she has been a member of Honor Society for three years, Girls' Club Cabinet two years, an usherette in her junior year, a member of Latineers, Pep Club, has served on Prom and Hop committees, and the season ticket committee, and is a member of Puyallup Tri Hi-Y. Her future plans are to enter Tacoma General Hospital School of Nursing in the fall.

The first boy since 1945 to win top scholastic honors in P.H.S., Dick Huber, salutatorian, was another who was active in school groups even though he earned a grade average of 96.7. Dick was a member of Viking Hi-Y, Ski Club, Honor Society, Boys' Glee Club, and turned out for track and basketball. He has supported the class of '50 by serving on the committees for the various class dances—the Sophomore Hop, Junior Prom, and Senior Ball. In his sophomore year he also turned out for baseball.

To be eligible for membership in the Honor Society a student's grades from the previous year must total to a B average. That person must also participate in at least two activities. Members received different pins again this year, according to the number of years they have belonged to the club.

Under the guidance of Miss Helen Alexander, the group held their meetings during fourth periods. Jackie Richter served as president this year, with Janet Gregory as vice president and Julia Snyder as secretary-treasurer.

In Retrospect

The ship has docked, and the seniors are ready to go ashore. While the rest of the crew prepare for another voyage, we descend the gangplank and venture onto land. Our voyage has ended. No more will we feel the excitement of the first day, when everyone is gay and eager; never again will we walk down the crowded halls to the tune of friendly hellos, stopping to chat with friends and being secure in the knowledge that we belong. We have experienced for the last time the thrill of anticipation brought on when school is dismissed because of snow.

There will be more games and more victories, but the thrill and excitement will not be the same. The players won't be OUR boys and the yell leaders OUR friends; the kids at the gates and hot dog stands will smile politely, but a polite smile doesn't take the place of the wide, friendly grins and the welcoming shouts. We'll be remembered for a while, but soon the crew will become engrossed in activities and we will be forgotten. Other personalities will overshadow ours; and better records will be set, excelling and obliterating those which have been so proudly left by the class of 1950.

In passing, we'd like to express thanks to the teachers who have put up with our whims and fantasies and have been our friends, giving advice, praise, and reproach when needed; to the underclassmen who have looked up to us, bolstering our ego, and who cried as we said our final good-byes; to the custodians who have teased and laughed with us; to the halls and classrooms that, for us, will always echo our laughter and good times; and to those who have made our 1950 VIKING one of the best ever.

A special word of appreciation goes to Miss Sorenson for advice on the art work; to the William Lee, Ketring, and Krug Studios for photography; to the Puyallup Valley Tribune; to the businessmen who have supported us with their advertising; and to the teachers and office personnel for their helpful cooperation.

To the underclassmen we leave this, our log—the 1950 VIKING—in hopes that as they look at it in years to come they will remember us, the half-century class.

Now the gangplank has been raised and the ship is pulling away, leaving us on the dock, waving sadly. And so we say farewell to the Vikings.

Good luck

Preface

"I believe in

using my own brains exclusively and not my neighbors—
using school time for school work only—controlling the action of my tongue—being trustworthy—telling the truth the whole truth and nothing but the truth—giving my utmost support to all school work—being courteous in the halls, in the assembly, and in the classroom—keeping clean mentally and physically—being congenial and not snobbish."

This—our Viking creed—was designed to guide us through our lives—both in high school and afterwards, when we go out on life's journey in search of the best, as did the Viking pirates in their generation.

Because the name Viking is so familiar to all who attend
Puyallup high school, the annual class felt it would be appropriate to use the Viking theme for our book this year.

❧ In Memoriam ❧

In the passing of Irene Pulkrabek at Glencoe, Minnesota on August 23, 1949, Puyallup High School lost an outstanding teacher and the community an excellent citizen.

Miss Pulkrabek had taught in the commercial department for five years. She came to Puyallup from Wilbur, Washington where she had enjoyed a very successful teaching experience and had made many lasting friendships. At the time of her death she was on a leave of absence due to illness.

Miss Pulkrabek loved her work. She was one of those teachers first to be at her desk in the morning and the last to leave at night. She liked perfection. Any student taking bookkeeping or typing from Miss Pulkrabek would have a thorough understanding of the course when it was finished.

Although she devoted a major part of every day to teaching, she had many other interests. She enjoyed music, art, lectures, politics, and nature in all its aspects. She loved life.

One of the finest tributes came to her from a boy who had written a few months before she passed away expressing the hope that she would soon be well and back again because he wanted her as his teacher.

They Plan the Voyage

Probably no other group has had more major problems to deal with than the present administration and school board. During the past year the earthquake damaged the school buildings, and major repair work was necessary on the high school. The blizzard of January posed further problems, especially with the difficulty of keeping busses running and the extensive leaking of the roof of the high school. Then to top it all off the fire of February 10 destroyed the stage and the interior of the auditorium, making another major repair job necessary.

Many long hours have been spent by these men to cope with the extensive business necessary to keep the school running smoothly. Often theirs is a thankless task, because there are always those who criticize.

Mr. Hanawalt has the following message to the students who have been in Puyallup during the past year.

"We have often referred to our school system as a large family. We have encouraged in our students, faculty, and other personnel the family spirit at its best. We like each other and are therefore friendly to one another. We are loyal to everyone and to our entire group. We try to apply this loyalty not only to our school but to our community, state, nation, and the world. We try to analyze our problems carefully. We then make an effort to use our analysis as a basis to put things together in a better way. We are endeavoring to learn how to treat others like we, ourselves, would like to be treated. Relationships are all important. We are learning that an education is not at all just for knowledge and skill. The most important thing is what we do with what we know. E. Stanley Jones, who spoke to our senior high school student body said, 'The creed of today becomes the deed of tomorrow.' We are trying, then, to set up ideals today in school which will lead to the finest type of living as we take our places out in the world tomorrow. In our high school there has been a lot of living. We are trying to make it the finest type of living. As our seniors leave us at commencement time, we experience that same family feeling we have when someone leaves home. We wish you the best, seniors. May you be truly successful. Always remember that we will be glad to have you come back and visit us whenever you can."

PAUL B. HANAWALT

They Chart the Course

In the days of the Vikings there was probably little need for officers, but as the world progressed and things became more complex, they became more and more essential. There are two examples of good, efficient offices in the Puyallup schools.

The first of these is the Superintendent's office, which plays an important part in the school's functions. There Mrs. Virginia Haynes, Mabel Guggisberg, and Gerry Maass handle much of the school's business. They take care of the school system's records, much of the mimeographing, and many other activities. This office is the center of activity for all the Puyallup schools.

More familiar to the average high school student than the Superintendent's office is the high school office. This is where Mr. Hansen and Mr. Hartung hold their frequent conferences and where students come for their excuses and to have problems settled. The principals and Mr. Whitesel are always helpful in ironing out difficulties which arise. Here Phyllis Jones and Ruth Ocheltree, the two secretaries, with help from the girls who work in the office, keep the high school records in order. Report cards, attendance slips, bulletins, the telephone, and the office record cards are only a small part of the duties of the secretaries and office girls.

Again this year Mr. Hansen has a message to the students expressed in the following words dated February 10, 1950.

"To the Members of the Class of 1950:

Tonight Puyallup High School suffered another major catastrophe. The fire which destroyed the stage and the auditorium was much more severe than the earthquake damage of April 13 last year. Out of the ashes and ruins will come a more beautiful auditorium than before. Puyallup High School may be down but it's never out. That's the spirit of Puyallup High.

My message to the seniors closely parallels this incident. In life we all have obstacles that have to be overcome. If we have the initiative, the will, and the determination to overcome them, it can be done. In your lives you will meet these obstacles. When they come, don't give up. Fight all the harder. May the spirit of Puyallup High always be a part of you."

Teachers Co-operate in P. E. A.

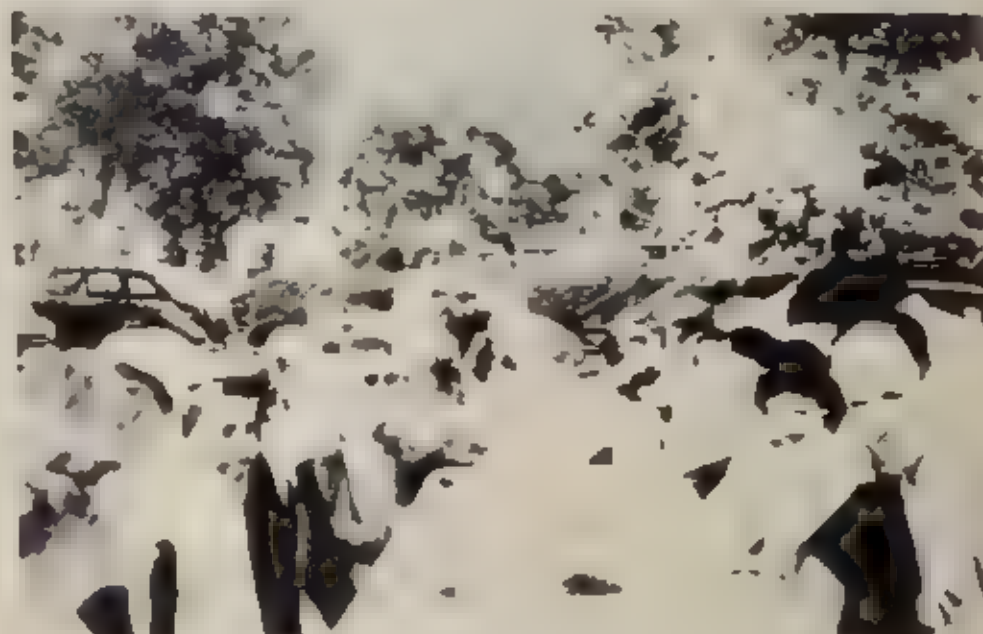

Again the teachers of Puyallup have set a 100% membership record for their professional organization. For 28 years Puyallup has continued this record which is equalled by only one other city in the state. This includes a unified membership in the local, state and national associations.

During Education Week, a committee under the leadership of Percy Cox, worked with organizations in the town. At the same time, as guests of the Puyallup Chamber of Commerce, a group including Florence Pope, Paul Hanawalt, Kurt Bargmeyer, Mark Whitman and Dennis Gallagher gave a panel on the "Problems of Increased Enrollment in our Schools."

In December, the annual Christmas party of the association was held in the high school cafeteria. Lucky man at the party was a certain grade school principal who won the prize gift for the evening.

Serving as committee chairmen for the current year were: program, Helen Alexander; American Education Week, Percy Cox; welfare, Maude Jacobs; foods, Jean Watson; decoration, Carol Snyder; social, Deane Healey; advisory, Walter Goplerud; legislative and public relation, Alden Vanderpool; group insurance, Charles Zafarani; Community Chest, Kurt Bargmeyer; salary, Bill Whitesel.

On the board of directors for the year were: Dennis Gallagher, president; Helen Alexander, vice president; Mary Radosovich, secretary; and Barbara Jerbert, treasurer. George Walter, Kurt Bargmeyer and Alden Vanderpool served as continuing members.

Deck Swabbers

Just as a Viking ship must be cleaned and kept in working order, so must the high school building. The custodians have been especially busy this past year keeping the school clean and warm. During the summer they had much added work because of the repair work that was done after the earthquake. The snow and exceptional cold of the past winter also added to their problems. There were walks to shovel, more time to be spent in heating, and the seemingly endless work of mopping up to do when the roof leaked. Certainly the custodians have proved to be a vital part of the school personnel.

In Charge of The Galley

Students in Puyallup might ask, "What would we do without the cooks?" In the old Viking days the stalwart pillagers needed to eat, and in this age the hearty "scholars" devour the satisfying meals prepared by the cooks in the cafeteria. In the picture the cooks are shown as they are ready to serve the hundreds of students who file by the counter each day. They are assisted by students who work in the cafeteria during the lunch hour.

As matron, Mrs. Rosemary Sherman is called upon to perform a variety of duties. She will be remembered by many as a comforting person when the problems of high school seemed great.

Vikings Ready for Conquest

There is a strange ringing still left in the ears of the students of Puyallup High School, for they can still hear the not soon to be forgotten sea chant—"We're on the run, we're on the go—1950." This is the yell that started it all.

The "1950 Viking" crew launched their ship back in 1946 by coming in first in the season ticket drive. Off to a good start, they found smooth sailing all through the year under the efficient leadership of their officers: Captain C. Morrison, First Mate W. Hunt, Quartermaster J. Brodigan, and Signalman J. Schaeffer, guided by their advisers, Miss Scheitlin, Miss Bowen, and Mr. Wasmund. Their freshman frolic, "Apple Blossom Time," received a first class honor rating, while members of the crew played on the junior high championship football and basketball teams.

The second year of their voyage started under the new leadership of Captain W. Hunt, First Mate J. Spear, Quartermaster L. Wagner, and Signalman E. Dall; advisers, Mrs. Case and Mr. Gasser. While cruising through Europe, they stopped over long enough to give a most successful dance, "The Holland Hop."

On the third leg of their journey they stopped in the South Seas only long enough to change officers; Captain H. Chipps, First Mate B. Clasby, Quartermaster J. Stelling, and Signalman E. Dall; advisers, Miss Sorenson, Miss Hayland, and Mr.

Catron. During their stay they presented the beautiful junior prom, "Orchids In The Moonlight." Due to circumstances beyond their control—the earthquake—the dramatic presentation, "A Date With Judy," was not given.

The ship then began the final months of its cruise. The cabinet shake up ended with Captain W. Hunt, First Mate B. Clasby, Quartermaster P. Palmer, Signalman T. Rudnick, and Signalman B. Osborn; advisers, Miss Skreen, Mr. Decker, and Mr. Dowie. Winning top honors in the season ticket drive and stunt assembly gave them a good start. On their way around Alaska the crew presented a fabulous senior ball, "Frozen Fantasy." The Thespians presented an extraordinary success, "The Dead of Night." Two members of the crew were outstanding in their work in the field of athletics; able-bodied seamen, Jim Ball and Sid Nomes, won all-state honors for their outstanding accomplishments on the football field. The rest of the team were sensational in winning the championship.

Now that the cruise has been more than successful and the men have returned home, they feel, and justly so, that it has been a job well done. Upon receiving their diplomas they start their biggest adventure of all—their cruise into life. This cruise will undoubtedly be successful for each and every member of this outstanding crew.

The class of '51 is nearing the end of the high school expedition, and the members are looking forward to their last year as seniors. This year's log contains many exciting and successful events, according to the class members.

To start the year off with a bang the juniors achieved second place in the season ticket drive, coming in behind the seniors. They also were a jump behind the winning seniors in the stunt, with their portrayal of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Their play and dance in the spring were also never-to-be-forgotten events for these well-seasoned members of the Viking clan.

Freshmen

The freshman class of up and coming Vikings are now at the close of their junior high training and are ready to step to the senior high. As top men on the south side of the building, they have provided leadership in most of the activities there. In the work of the junior high student body and its board of control these ninth graders have demonstrated their school spirit. As the backbone of the football, basketball, and track squads, they have contributed to the athletic tradition of the Baby Vikings. They came in fourth in the season ticket drive, but they gained third place

This year's eighth grade had a little more confidence, after one year of "running the ropes." Like the seventh grade, they are divided into groups which have their own officers, rather than having leaders for the entire class.

J-10 started the year out by winning the junior high season ticket drive. Representatives from this class on the gridiron and the basketball floor promise the Viking varsity squads some great athletes in a few years.

The yell of this class, "Clear the way, open the door, Here comes the class of '54," could always be heard from the "shelf" at the beginning of the assemblies. After a good start, this group promises to live up to the traditions of the Vikings.

Ascending the Gangplank

All senior high students remember those never-to-be-forgotten days when they dashed into strange classrooms and bumped into even stranger people and ended the days in a complete maze. The new Vikings who were this year's seventh graders had the very same difficulties, but they have become active members of the Viking crew during the past school year.

These students showed enthusiasm in their support of the season ticket drive. J-2 came out above the other seventh grade groups in the seventh and eighth grade contest. At assemblies "standing room only" was the lot of these newcomers, but they took up their stations along the walls.

Democracy in Action

"Mr. Chairman, I think the student body should buy a bulletin board to be erected on the front lawn. It would contain a schedule of the day's events, and people would then know what is going on in the high school." Thus speaks one of the members of the Board of Control, where problems of all kinds are brought up for discussion.

Student body officers, elected by all the students, and representatives from all the senior high homerooms make up this group. Upon them falls the responsibility of dealing with problems that arise in connection with student affairs. Some of these arise in homeroom discussions, and others come up during the Board of Control meetings.

Good sportsmanship at games was stressed by the group this past year. Other problems included those like securing stage curtains, erecting a flagpole at Viking field, seating at football games, and providing a typewriter for the annual class.

Serving as chairman of the Board of Control and of assembly meetings was Doug McGrath, student body president; Harold Chipps was vice-president; Luella Wagner served as secretary, and Ron Scamfer and Elaine Chipps were yell king and queen.

Representative Government

Unity in the junior high student body is achieved in much the same way as it is in senior high through the work of the Board of Control. Representatives from the homerooms plus the student body officers make up this group each year.

An opportunity to experience democracy in action is provided when problems are brought up in the homeroom discussions and then referred to the Board of Control. Homeroom voting determines the stand which the representative will take on the issues which are discussed by the board.

During the past year the group has helped to check lockers, making sure that the locks were used. They have tried to do something about some of the common problems like running in the halls and using rubber bands, and they have worked to promote better sportsmanship at games.

As president of the student body, Bob Dall has presided at the meetings of the Board of Control and also over junior high assemblies. Other officers were Donna Bell, vice-president; Shirley Ayers, secretary, and Carol Worswick, yell queen. Mr. Hartung and Mrs. Rentsch served as faculty advisers of the group.

SECOND YEAR JOURNALISM

Larson, Moore, Meier, Torkelson, Nelson, Goff, Osborn, Mr. Simons, Keene, Rudnick, Hora

Many hours after school and at night were spent working on the VIKING VANGUARD by members of the staff. Since only two of the students in second year journalism had taken the course previously, the problems presented were new and strange to them.

Amazement plainly showed on their faces when such terms as dummies, copyreading, proofreading galleys, and finding cuts and mats for ads, were used. However, it didn't take long for them to become familiar with using as well as putting into practice these phrases.

For the twelfth consecutive year the VANGUARD again received an All-American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association for last year's issues of the paper. This proves that the efforts of the staff members are not in vain.

Joan Moore held the position of editor-in-chief. Other staff members and their positions were Elsie Keene and Bonnie Osborn, news editors; Pearl Torkelson and Joyce Nelson, feature editors; Jerry Larson and Treva Rudnick, sports editors; and Venetta Kunschak and Joann Snider, co-ad managers. Mary Louise Meier was circulation and exchange manager first semester. Assisting with this were Estellene Dall, Dick Huber and Warren Hunt. Serving as adviser for the publication was Paul Simons, who put in longer hours than anyone else.

Working outside of class to report events which occurred on the junior high side of the building were interested freshmen students who had a grade of "A" or "B" in English. The junior high staff this year was made up of all girls.

Though the snow lay on the ground and the weather was cold, the ad solicitors were not exempt from ploughing up town to see advertisers for the Vanguard. Since the publication is almost entirely dependent upon the income from advertising, the solicitors' work is very necessary for the maintenance of the paper. The staff taking journalism this year was not large enough to handle the advertising campaign, so volunteers were called upon from study hall.

Bob Goodale has been student photographer for both the annual and the Vanguard for the past two years.

Hard work on the school annual or paper won for the students pictured the honor of belonging to Quill and Scroll, an international honor society for high school journalists. Other qualifications are that the students be in the upper third of their class, be recommended by the adviser, and be approved by the national board. For the paper it is required that the student have at least 90 inches of print in the paper and submit a sample.

Since the group is so small they do not have officers or regular meetings. Membership fees are paid for by the annual and paper fund. This provides the member with a pin and a year's subscription to the Quill and Scroll magazine.

The Viking Staff

No doubt the ambition of every yearbook staff is to produce a bigger and better annual than any previous staff has been able to produce. This year's group of 22 students was no exception, as they started the year's work under the direction of the adviser, Palma Larson. The staff had a high goal to strive for, since the 1949 VIKING received an All-American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association.

Heading the staff as co-editors were Joan Moore and Joan Stelling, with Ron Scamfer as business manager. Other members of the business staff were Harriet Wilhelm, Marcia Norris, Barbara Eng, and Fred Frankhauser.

Members of the editorial staff and their positions were: Jean Wilhelmsen, faculty; Luella Wagner and Pat Palmer, seniors and girls' sports; Sharon Reitmeier, lower classes; David Curry, organizations; Venetta Kunschak, activities; Barbara Toburen, dramatics; Jack Tuttle, boys' sports; Joyce Tallman and Shirley Svinth, school life; and Warren Miller, music.

Gloria Williams worked on the dummy and the mounting of pictures. Division pages were drawn by Dale Anderson and Warren Wotton, with the advice of Gladys Sorenson. Bob Goodale was student photographer.

Viking Ladies & Viking Knights

To become a Viking Knight or Viking Lady is an honor all senior high boys and girls wish to attain. However, the membership of the two groups is limited—there are twelve V.K.'s and fourteen V.L.'s. Two members are selected from each senior high class by election each year and they retain their membership as long as they are in school. The president of Girls' Club and the sports' manager for G.A.A. automatically become V.L.'s.

For twenty-four years these two groups have been seen throughout the school in their traditional blue and white sweaters and have been idolized by many students as true Vikings.

In keeping with the Viking creed these girls and boys strive to be friendly and courteous as well as to carry out their assigned duties—ushering at plays and games, cleaning the trophies, and helping keep the school clean.

Officers of the V.L.'s this year were Pat Young, president; Shirley Young, vice-president; and Diane Dracoby, secretary-treasurer. The group was advised by Barbara Jerbert.

V.K. officers were Bob Clasby, president; George McQueen, vice-president; Harold Lago, secretary; and John Spear, treasurer; with Don Hartung as adviser.

Promoters of Friendship

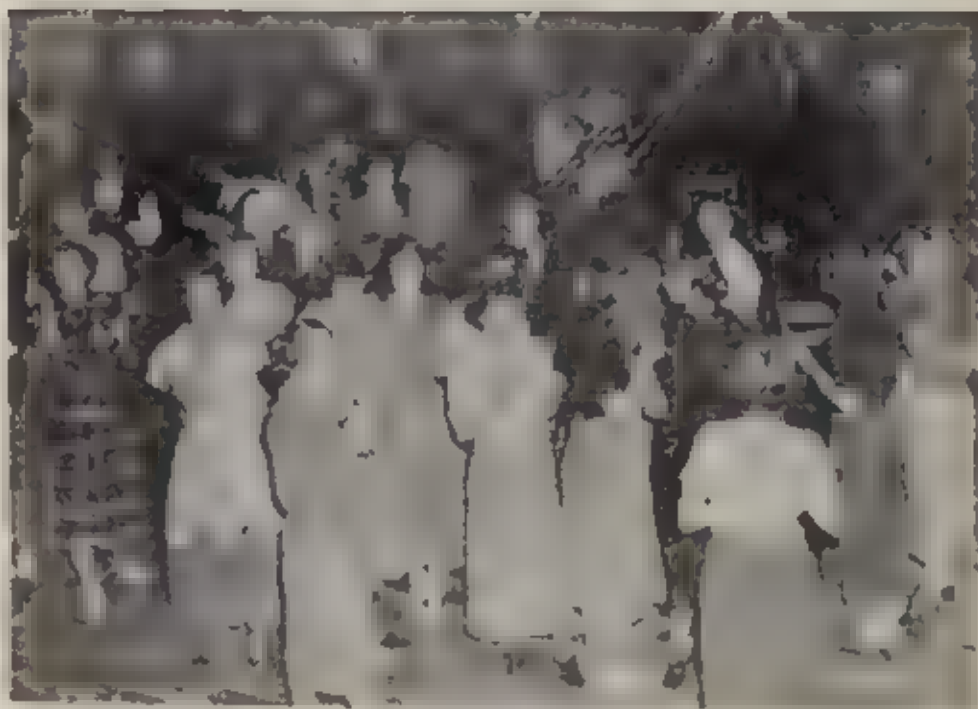

Every year the Senior High Girls' Club sponsors three major activities. The first of these is the mixer which is held in the fall. Last fall they had a "Merry Mixup" theme, with refreshments served from a "Merry Mixup" stand which had been set up in the gym. Guests of the club at the mixer are the sophomore girls and any new girls in senior high, and by this means they are welcomed into the school.

Another major activity is the decoration of the halls at Christmas time. A tree was set up and decorated in the foyer, and the halls were decorated with ivy and fir bows. This year a Santa Claus scene was painted by several of the girls and placed in the lower hall so all who came in the front door could see it.

The third event of importance to Girls' Club members is the annual Mother and Daughter tea which is held in the spring. Last year the girls carried out an attractive "Lilac Time" theme in their decorations for the affair which was held in the school cafeteria. Mothers of the girls were guests and a program was presented which included the installation of officers. Another tea was planned for this spring.

Each year a Girls' Club conference is held for the Puget Sound League schools, and the Puyallup girls either act as hostesses or send a delegation. This year the conference was held at Highline, and 16 Puyallup girls and their adviser attended.

Officers for the past year included Nancy Rickert, president; Treva Rudnick, vice-president; Joan Stelling, secretary; and Harriet Cook, historian. In addition to these elected officers the cabinet includes the chairmen and co-chairmen of the various committees. Gertrude Hansen acted as adviser for the group.

Girls Seek Companionship

Holly wreaths deck the halls at Christmas.

Another scene from the tea.

Pumpkins, pie tins, funnels, pastry brushes, ribbon, flowers, and many other items were used to make the novel hats which were entered in the hat contest which was a part of the Mother and Daughter tea held in the cafeteria last fall. This was one of the main affairs sponsored by the Junior High Girls' Club during the past year, and about 250 girls and their mothers were present. Mothers of the new girls and of the seventh graders were special guests at the event. Later some of the girls modeled their hats at a meeting of the P.-T.A.

Another project for the year was the decoration of the halls on the junior high side for the Christmas season. Wreaths were made by the girls and placed above the door to each room to create a festive appearance. Meetings were held once a month, and an attempt was made to secure prominent business women to speak on subjects of interest to the girls.

When girls enter the Puyallup Junior High School, they automatically become members of the Girls' Club. Representatives to the cabinet from each homeroom are selected by the girls, and they also have their elected officers. During the past year Enid Watkin was president; Catherine Casteel, vice-president; Shari Hartman, secretary; and Delores Martin, yell leader. Again this year Mrs. Rentsch served as adviser.

"Then the drums take a roll-off and we go into 'Buckle Down, You Vikings.' Hold the last note—no stinger on the end."

Doubletalk? No. You could have heard Director Ed Krenz giving instructions of this kind almost any day of the year in Room 313 when the Puyallup High School band was rehearsing for one of its numerous performances.

The Western Washington Fair was the scene of the 1949-50 band's first public appearance. Then followed many other performances, including playing at pep assemblies and basketball games, marching and playing at football games, and marching in the Daffodil Festival parade.

High points of the year were the seventh annual Swing Concert, the annual Spring Concert, and the Western Washington Band Contest.

Parade of Strings

Strains of such tunes as "Yesterdays," "The Way You Look Tonight," "The Cat and the Fiddle," and "Carmen" will linger in the memory of many a Puyallup concert-goer as trademarks of the 1949-50 version of the Puyallup High School orchestra.

The orchestra started the year by playing at the Western Washington Fair, followed by performances at the alumni assembly and the seventh annual Swing Concert. As part of the program at the latter appearance, they played two of Director Ed Krenz's own arrangements. In May they performed in the Spring Concert and participated in the Western Washington Orchestra contest.

Senior high instrumental soloists and ensembles received the following ratings in the solo and ensemble contest at Highline March 4: Superior—Don Cook, cornet; Warren Miller, flute; Janet Ward and Ruth Neeley, piano; and Joy Sherman and Gertrude Iverson, baton twirling. Excellent—Glen Breitsprecher, trombone; Jacklyn Richter and Warren Wotton, piano; Geneal Burzloff, oboe; Kenny Brock, alto saxophone; and the flute-violin-piano trio, composed of Warren Miller, Joyce Peoples, and Gail Beauchamp. Good—Kendall Clement, cornet; and Willie Williams, string bass.

One of Puyallup's most active junior high instrumental music departments in recent years was directed this year by Breese Bell.

If the Junior High Band weren't playing at assemblies, games, P.T.A. meetings, or marching in the Daffodil Parade, and if the Junior High Orchestra weren't busy preparing for the orchestra contest, one of the many junior high instrumental groups or soloists could be seen performing for various meetings and banquets.

A Cappella Choral Masters

The Senior High A Capella Choir, a mixed group of 54 vocalists picked from the chorus and theory classes and directed by Louis Owens, was a very busy group this year.

School had just started when the choir traveled to Jason Lee Junior High School in Tacoma to perform for the Pierce County Teachers' Institute. Then followed the Christmas program, in which the group sang such songs as "Adoramus Te" and "I Wish You a Merry Christmas."

Included in the choir's list of performances were appearances at two Kiwanis meetings and one P.T.A. program. On April 22 the group competed in the vocal music contest at Renton. Most of the choir members were also very active in the staging of VIKING VARIETIES, and they appeared in the yearly Spring Concert in May.

Some of the group's outstanding members sang in the Festival Chorus and participated in the Western Washington Solo and Small Ensemble Competition Festival at Highline on March 4. They received the following ratings: Superior—

Judy Martin, girl's low voice; and Joyce Peoples, girl's high voice. Excellent—Harriet Cook and Joyce Tallman, girl's high voice; and Marlene Long, girl's low voice. Good—Bob Logan and Curtis Squires, boy's high voice; and Calvin Davidson, boy's low voice.

Those masculine voices you heard sounding forth from Room 311 every Tuesday and Thursday morning before school this year were those of members of the Senior High Boys' Glee Club, directed by Louis Owens.

At the Christmas program, which was their first performance of the year, the glee club sang three English Christmas carols, "Wassail," "Good King Wenceslas," and "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen." The other big activity for the group was VIKING VARIETIES, in which they sang "Lovely Bunch of Coconuts," "Romona," "Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," and "Dear Old P. U.," a take-off on "Now Is the Hour."

Two other groups which might often have been heard harmonizing were the Girls' Nonette and the Boys' Double Quartette. Members of these groups are selected from a large field of aspirants at the beginning of each school year.

There is practically no club or organization in or around Puyallup which has not been entertained by either of these groups or by both, since they often sing as a single unit. These musicians also formed the nucleus for the cast of the 1950 production of VIKING VARIETIES.

During the past year the Nonette received the additional honor of an excellent rating for their singing in the Western Washington solo and ensemble competition at Highline.

Junior High Music Makers

Future Nonette, Double Quartet, and VIKING VARIETIES stars are in the making in the two junior high vocal groups — the Junior High Chorus and the Junior High Girls' Glee Club. Members of these groups will be the backbone of Puyallup High's vocal music in 1954 or '55. These will be the future Buzz Schacherers, Harriet Cooks, and Ron Scamfers.

The Junior High is the chief training ground for senior high vocal activities. Director Louis Owens gets some of his biggest thrills from watching the various voices develop and change, wondering whether Johnny Jones will turn out to be his prize tenor or bass.

In addition to singing, many other phases and fundamentals of music are studied, such as reading music and expression signs. Music appreciation is also learned.

This year's Junior High Chorus enrollment of 85 was the largest in Puyallup High School history, a fact which insures continued high quality of music at P.H.S. Stephen Foster songs, Negro spirituals, and religious songs were favorites of the group. The high point of the year was the annual Spring Concert performance.

Sixty-five girls greeted Mr. Owens every Wednesday and Friday morning at 8 o'clock when the Junior High Girls' Glee Club met to sing such selections as "Come Down to Kew" and "Compassion." These young vocalists were prominent in both the Christmas program and the Spring Concert. Letters were awarded to all members meeting the set attendance requirements.

A disc jockey radio show was featured as the theme of the 1950 version of VIKING VARIETIES, directed by Louis Owens.

The show consisted of ten acts, in between each of which disc jockey Buck Tilner announced the next act to his "listeners" on Station KNUTS. These announcements were interspersed by witty comments and commercials. Included in the acts were the Drug Store scene, "Victor Herbert Favorites," "We've Come From the City," "A Pretty Girls is Like a Melody," "The Shipwrecked Sailors," and "A Bird in a Gilded Cage."

The production was built around members of the Senior High Choir and Boys' Glee Club, along with other specialty students. It was presented three times—at matinee and two evening shows in the high school gymnasium.

Stage Plays

Junior high students have an opportunity to study drama and to produce plays of their own in their classes. In the picture to the left below is a scene from "School Daze" presented by the eighth grade class. The scene to the right is from "His First Date," staged by the ninth grade class.

Unable to be moved from the Stanley's home after slipping on their walk, Sheridan Whiteside—lecturer, orator, outstanding radio man and wit—literally took over the entire household, forcing the Stanleys to move upstairs. His efforts to dissolve the budding love affair of Maggie, his secretary, his interference in the family life of the Stanleys, and his many famous visitors with their unusual presents kept the household in a constant uproar and the audience who attended the play well entertained.

Under the direction of Deane Healey, "The Man Who Came to Dinner" was produced by an all-school cast in the Little Theater for ten performances, from March 22 through April 4. Originally scheduled for earlier presentation in the auditorium, the play was adapted for the Little Theater performance following the destructive fire of February 10.

Sheridan Whiteside was portrayed by John Spear; the part of Maggie Cutler was taken by Connie Colin; Mrs. Ernest W. Stanley was De Vonne Oestreich; Miss Preen, Marcia Norris; Richard Stanley, Leonard Sienkiewich; June Stanley, Marlene Foster; John, David Hutchinson; Sarah, Shirley Bell; Mrs. Dexter, Norma Snider; Mrs. McCutcheon, Treva Rudnick; Mr. Stanley, Cal Davidson; Dr. Bradley, Roger Anderson; Harriet Stanley, Ruth Schakohl; Bert Jefferson, Harold Marcoe; Professor Metz, Robert Logan; Prisoners, Bob Goodale, Bill Finch, and Jerry Murry; Mr. Baker, Kendall Clement; Expressman, Fred Corwin; Lorraine Sheldon, Joy Casto; Sandy, Don Nau; Beverly Carlton, Buck Tilner; Westcott, Buddy Wetzel; Radio Technician, Jim Schaefer; Deputies, Boyd Brock and Bill Finch; Plain Clothesman, Jerry Murry.

Sliding panels, dead bodies, long hat pins, howling winds, and startling screams combined to make the senior class play, "The Dead of Night," a chilling success. The three-act play was presented December 2 in the high school auditorium by the senior class under the direction of Deane Healey, dramatics coach. Phyllis Erickson acted as student promptress.

The plot is centered around the murder of two persons—Jake Monroe (Doug Ritchie) and Joey Baldwin (Ronnie Scamfer). Adam Glasset (Roger Anderson), town constable, had the task of trying to find the murderer. One of those under suspicion was Martha Baldwin (Joan Stelling) because the murders were committed with her hat pin. Her main defender was David Carruthers (Fred Corwin), who was in love with her. Sarah Watkins (Shirley Svinth), the maid, adds comedy to the tense situation when she gives accounts of all the conversations she has overheard.

Publicity

Weeks before a school production, you will see big posters in store windows, signs on the bumpers of cars, pictures in the papers, and newspaper stories about coming events around school. This work is done by the publicity committee and their adviser, Irene Fearn.

Different divisions and their chairmen for the past year were: program (make up), Harriet Wilhelm; folding, Ruby Thompson; posters (downtown), Dale Anderson; posters (outlying), Nancy Rickert; bumper strips, Warren Wotton; write ups (Tacoma), Elsie Keene; write ups (Puyallup), Gloria Anderson; program covers, Buzz Schacherer; window displays, Shirley Rensing; ads, Patty Van Horn; and cuts, Buck Tilner.

Properties

"Do you have a gun I may borrow?" Such a remark does not mean that someone in the school is contemplating murder or suicide.

It is often necessary to gather quite a number of properties for musical and dramatic productions. These range in nature from mummy cases, guns, and wheel chairs to cookies and grape juice.

In charge of the collection of this variety of items is the property committee, advised by James Hatton and Dan Ranniger. They also have the job of keeping the property room in order. During the past year they worked especially in securing the necessary properties for the senior play, the all-school play, and VIKING VARIETIES.

Make-Up Club

When you see students running around wearing grease paint, mustaches, or false eyelashes the afternoon or night of some play, you will know that the make up committee has been at work.

The job of this group is to make all students in the productions really look like the characters they are portraying. In order to do this well the committee members must be given the proper training, which includes practicing on each other and studying the characters of the plays in order to know how to make them up. Miss Hansen acts as adviser for this group.

Usherettes

Assisting the Viking Ladies with their various duties at dramatic and musical programs in the high school are the girls known as the usherettes. They help with the handing out of programs and the ushering at the many events during the school year.

These girls are juniors who are chosen each year by the V.L.'s. Qualifications which are considered in this selection are leadership, scholarship, citizenship, and character. While they are performing their duties, the usherettes are outfitted in dark blue sweaters and skirts. Barbara Jerbert has acted as adviser for this group, since she advises the Viking Ladies.

Stage Crew

"Never give up" has been the motto of the stage crew boys and their adviser, Mark Hipkins, during the past year. Last spring the severe damage done to the stage by the earthquake made a great amount of extra work for the crew. Shortly after they had finished getting the stage in shape again, the auditorium was burned by the fire the night of February 10. Even more property on the stage was destroyed than by the quake.

Included in the work of the group is the building and painting of sets for the various productions on the stage. They also are responsible for getting the stage ready for all events that occur in the auditorium. This spring they have shifted their activities to the Little Theater and the gym.

First Row: Coleman, Young, Haynes, Skrivan. Second Row: Wolfe, Wegster, Keogan, Duncan, Neal, Pearson, Benton, D. Curry, Mr. Walter. Back Row: Hale, Weymouth, Paetz, R. Berry.

Projection Crew

"We get to see all the movies that are shown in the school," chant the boys of the projection crew.

Yes, this is one of the few compensations of being a member of this group which has definite duties to be carried out. The equipment with which to show the films is heavy and has to be carried as far as third floor or the balcony. They also set up the loud speaking system for various school events. Much of their work is done before and after school and between classes.

These boys, under the direction of George Walter, have learned a great deal about the projection machines.

Viking Patrol

Viking Patrol, a three-year-old organization, has sixteen members under the leadership of Mr. Donald Rice. This is a service organization composed entirely of junior high boys, who must meet certain requirements. The main duties of this group are to help maintain order in the halls and on the stairs, to enforce rules concerning bicycles, and to usher at all junior high games. Maroon and gold sweaters were adopted as the official outfit for the group. Officers of the club for the past year were: Captain, Teddy Kerst; and Secretary-Treasurer, Bob Yates.

Viking Relics

Since no two museums are established in exactly the same way, each serves a different purpose. Ours is a "Teaching Museum," consisting of a general permanent collection of natural science, or natural history, with special emphasis on prehistoric people and materials representing historic cultures.

Museums of science and history appeal both to intellect and emotions, "giving enjoyment to those who seek enjoyment, and opportunity for study to those who seek knowledge."

Mrs. Bessie Mathews is now in charge of Puyallup's museum, and she has received student assistance during the past year from Dale Anderson and Calvin Shipman.

D. Anderson, Mrs. Matthews, Shipman.

Smoking Committee

The smoking committee consists of eight senior high boys who make up their own rules and regulations for smoking in the vicinity of the school. All boys belonging to this group have been chosen by the student body. The main duty of this committee is to see that the students follow the rules for smoking, and if they are broken to see that the student be punished. A person may be caught breaking the rules once and the smoking committee will, with the help of their advisers, decide the punishment. On breaking the rules a second time the student will be suspended from school until his parents have seen Mr. Hansen.

Officers for this group are: President, Harold Marcoe; Secretary, George Thrall; and advisers, Mark Whitman, Carl Sparks, and Mark Hipkins.

Horsemens Prepare to Travel

Beginning the activities of the year for the Latineers was the initiation held in the fall supervised by Miss Frieda Scheitlin.

Next on the list for the busy group was the annual Roman banquet held this year in the cafeteria. It is customary to serve the banquet Roman style with Roman food and Roman dress. A program including a movie and other entertainment was scheduled for their annual assembly.

The only qualification that must be met to join the club is that the student is taking or has taken Latin.

Officers this year included Buddy Wetzel, president; Ken Erickson, vice president; and June Mather, secretary-treasurer.

With the annual initiation in January at Martin's Rec the Spanish Club got off to a good start this year.

Not only did they hold a party at Pat Rowley's for their own entertainment, but they also scheduled an assembly for April for the enjoyment of the student body. A play constituted the largest part of the program.

Shirley Bell pounded the gavel at meetings, while Jim Connell stood by as her assistant. Nancy Turman took down the minutes, and Dean Melville handled the money. Barbara Jerbert was the adviser.

The qualifications for membership in Spanish Club are the same as for Latineers except for the difference in language.

Retailers . . .

Studying sales techniques, taking field trips, arranging displays, and putting into practice what they learned were among the activities of the retail selling class. They went to school in the morning and worked the rest of the day. During Christmas time the entire class had steady work. One girl, Barbara Lorenz, took high sales honors in a Tacoma department store for two weeks.

The highlight of the year is the State Retailers' Conference held in the spring. Puyallup's group is a member of the state organization of which Joan Parks was historian this year.

Pep Club

New yells and skits are what help to keep the rooting section peppy at games as well as pep rallies. To introduce these is the main purpose of the pep club. This group also forms a uniform rooting section for Puyallup.

This year the pep club tried to set a standard concerning rules and regulations for future pep clubs. Present plans include the continuation of the club in the future, since it has proved to be a help to the yell leaders.

Assistant Bibhothecaries

One of the first projects of the senior high librarians during the past year was the showing of the newly-acquired books at the annual tea given for the teachers. Food for the affair was prepared by the cooking class and served by the librarians.

A film strip explaining the library was secured from the visual education department and shown in all senior high English classes. This was accompanied by a talk by Miss Pfefferle.

Special assistance in filing books and magazines was given by Anna Mae Matta.

Under the leadership of Jean Watson, the faculty member in charge of the Junior high library, a busy year has been enjoyed by the junior high librarians. After they were selected by the eighth grade teachers last spring, they had a training period to acquaint them with the work. Only reliable and courteous students with a C average were eligible for the positions.

Since the group did not believe in all work and no play, the girls enjoyed Christmas and Valentine parties.

"Office!" "Puyallup High School!" So come the answers to the different phones in the principal's office from the girls who have voluntarily worked there during their study halls. Not only do the girls answer the phones, but they also do typing and some secretarial work.

Students of P. H. S. sometimes overlook many of their privileges and advantages. One of these advantages is the chance they have to buy a season ticket, which will admit them to all the home athletic games, school plays and Viking Varieties. For the small price of five dollars for grades 9-12 and only four dollars for seventh and eighth graders a season ticket can be purchased without paying cash. Those who wish to do so may pay for their ticket over a period of time. Payments are made to the board of control representatives in each homeroom.

Each fall the season ticket drive is held in which grades 9-12 compete to see which class can have the largest per cent of their members pledge for a ticket. Very few students do not pledge. Miss Margaret Hughes spends many hours working as adviser of the committee.

Robert Vollen and the girls of his committee sold tickets at all the home athletic events and dramatic productions throughout the year.

Future Farmers of America

Another most successful year was enjoyed by the Future Farmers of America, which is one of the most active organizations of the school.

Unlike any other school organization, the F. F. A. is very active during the summer, and last year was no exception. The members of this group exhibited 17 animal entries at four livestock shows. Three championships, 14 blue ribbons, four red, and one white ribbon were won on the animals during the summer. In September the F. F. A. won the championship award for their fair booth in the horticulture department.

The livestock judging team made up of Charles Barth, Wessel Kuper, and James Shoe placed first out of 39 to win the Carnation Judging Contest. At the Pacific International Livestock Exposition at Portland they placed second out of 67 teams from four states. Charles Barth was fifth high man out of 200 contestants. The poultry judging team placed fifth in a contest and won the second place banner for grading dressed chickens. Fritz Snider, Gale Holman, and Bill Christensen made up this team.

The biggest job of the organization was the drawing up of the work program for the year. This work is done by ten committees of which Ted Maloney was head. Mr. Jean and Mr. Badham were advisers.

Active Controversialists

"Madam chairman, honorable judge, and worthy opponents. The subject for debate today is, Resolved: That the President of the United States shall be elected by a direct vote of the people." These words were heard in many English and history classes this year on days when Puyallup's debate squad was in action against other schools.

Debate, a dormant activity last year, was successfully revived this year under the direction of Coach Jay Higbee, with Puyallup teams posting a season's record of 11 won, eight lost, and one tied. In league debates as a squad they won two, lost three, and tied two. Puyallup individual teams won eight, lost eight, and tied one in the league. Each individual team is made up of two members, and the league is made up of Highline, Kent, Auburn, Seattle Prep, Fife, Bothell, Mount Si, and Puyallup.

The Puyallup team traveled to Kent and Seattle Prep for debate meets, with the rest being held here. In each case the meets were three team affairs, with two teams debating at one time and the coach of the third team acting as judge. On March 10 and 11 the Puyallup squad participated in the College of Puget Sound open debate tournament.

Puyallup's teams and their season's records are listed below:

Olga Salomisen and Joy Gilmore won three and lost none in league debating and won two and lost none out of the league. David Hutchinson and Ken Erickson won three, lost two and tied one in league debates and won one non-league affair. Miriam Bearse and Estellene Dall compiled a two won and four lost league record. The teams of Miriam Bearse and Bernice Turner, and Pat Nichols and Bernice Turner each lost one league debate.

Future Homemakers of America

Have you donated to the Junior Red Cross?" Time and time again students were asked this by F. H. A. members who sponsored the drive. The total amount collected was $79. They also worked with the F. F. A. boys again this year to sell hotdogs. The group sent a delegate to the Southwest Regional Demonstration Conference and sent another member to the state meeting at Ellensburg in April. They also sponsored several demonstrations here.

Officers of the club were Virginia Irish, president; Mary Meier, vice-president; Jean Richen, secretary; Virginia Doran, treasurer; and Lorraine Cluff, music chairman. Miss Alexander acted as advisor.

Fifty-two junior high girls attended a pot luck supper sponsored by the junior high F. H. A. to help the girls get acquainted. The initiation of new members was held in February. Several girls went to the F. H. A. conference at Pullman, where they had charge of one of the round tables. They also put on a skit at the Southwest Regional Conference held at Fife.

Christian Youths Spread Friendship

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school and community high standards of Christian character" is the purpose of the HI-Y and Tri Hi-Y in Puyallup. All the clubs strive to achieve the three fold plan which includes the development of the mind, spirit, and body.

To begin the year a joint officer's training camp was held over the Labor Day Weekend at Lake Tapps. As a direct result of this conference the Pierce County Hi-Y Council was formed as a coordinating body for all the clubs. The president, vice-president, and three elected members of the clubs served on the council. Joint meetings were held with Sumner every two months, with city meetings in between.

Tri Hi-Y representatives from all the clubs journeyed to Longview for a conference, while the Hi-Y boys went to Aberdeen. All clubs took part in the "Youth in Government Program" held in Olympia.

The chartering system, which rates all the clubs according to the services they have rendered and attendance at meetings was adopted by the council. Any club is eligible to apply for a C, B, A, or AA charter.

Many services were performed by the clubs this year. One club presented the student body with a flag for Viking Field and erected a flag pole at the field. The gates at the field were painted by another group. During the snow a boys' club shoveled the snow from the sidewalks. Other services of the clubs included sponsoring students to boys and girls state, remodeling toys for orphanages, and donating to world service and the community chest.

Each club was scheduled to sponsor a special Friday night dance at the recreation center. Officers of the club served as the Rec Board, which controlled the recreation center.

Roy E. Richstad acted as General Secretary of the Y and Phyllis Blazer worked with him as Girls' Work Secretary.

For the second year in a row Coaches Sparks and Harshman fielded a championship team. This is the first time in the history of the school that has been accomplished.

In a pre-season game with Bremerton, the powerful Wildcats dumped the Vikings 26-0. Second half spurts brought the Vikings 12-6 victories over Highline and Lake Washington. The following game the Auburn Trojans were overrun 20-0. The Viks next came out on top with a 13-7 win over Kent-Meridian. Battling in the fog the defending champs tripped the host Clover Park Warriors 9-0. Identical wins of 20-7 over Renton and White River followed before Sumner squeezed out a narrow 7-6 victory on Thanksgiving Day.

Varsity Understudies

Although this year's B squad was not a mighty powerhouse, winning only two games out of seven, it promises to produce many mainstays for next year's varsity. Providing the guiding hand in developing these boys were Coaches Wasmund and Whitesel. The coaches instructed the boys every night, teaching them plays and giving them a basic training routine. These boys received little recognition other than that given them in the football award assembly, since they do not receive letters.

Games this season were played with Stadium, Sumner, and Clover Park. Stadium gave the B squad particular trouble, leaving them on the short end of the score in all three tilts. Better results were gained in the games with Sumner and Clover Park, with Puyallup winning one and losing one to each school. A game scheduled with White River was cancelled.

Sharing captain's duties were Jack Burrell, Marcus Christie, and Ralph Morrisson. Sophomore managers this year were George Lange and Bill Finch.

Future Gridiron Champs

Under the capable guidance and coaching of Al Jacobs and Art Larson, the Baby Vikings—the junior high football team—enjoyed a somewhat satisfactory season in the fall of 1949.

Although their win and loss record was not the most impressive, this year's squad had many boys who will undoubtedly become important factors in the next two or three years on the varsity squad. Even though they won only two games this season, none of the losses sustained were by large scores. The entire South End of the

Puget Sound League was evenly balanced this year.

Each team in the league was played twice during the season. White River gave the Baby Viks particular trouble, dumping them in both their games. A split was gained with both Clover Park and Sumner. Puyallup's victory over the latter team came in a somewhat free scoring affair with five touchdowns being scored in the first half.

Bob Dall captained this year's team and the freshmen managers were Philip Curry and Clayton Sparks.

Sumner finds Dall elusive.

Playing somewhat off and on ball, the Vikings started their league season by winning the first four games by margins of never more than three points. After this the Viks went through the season's play, ending up in fifth place with a record of nine won and seven lost. Some well played games brought them victories over White River, Sumner, and Renton. During the league season Puyallup's opponents outscored the Vikings by a bare eight points, 600 to 592. The two top scorers for this season's play were Jim Ball with 203 points and Sid Names with 147.

An innovation in the league this year was the Sportsmanship Trophy which was presented to the school judged to have the best sportsmanship during all basketball games. This trophy was sponsored by the various Kiwanis clubs in the league. Each school was given a certain number of votes, and the result this year was that Puyallup was the winner.

Eleven letters were awarded this year, going to seniors Jim Ball, Sid Names, George Gorow, Jerry Thomas, Bob Swanson, Dick Huber, and Dan Hemmings; juniors Mel Piatote and Frank Lancaster; and sophomores Jerry Sullivan and Bob Iverson. The inspirational award winner was George Gorow, and Jim Ball was captain.

Playing the preliminary games ahead of the varsity again this year were Coach Bill Whitesel's B-Squaders who ended the season of league play with a ten won, three lost record. Topping the team in scoring was Fred Poe with 75 points.

Building a team around five returning lettermen, Coach Al Jacobs turned out a smooth-playing group of boys which swept through the South End division undefeated. The first league game of the season found them breezing past White River by a 29-22 verdict. Victories followed in this order: over Sumner 42-20; Clover Park 47-25 and 43-26; White River 30-15; and Sumner 36-32.

On March 2 the Baby Vikings traveled to Renton to determine the junior high champion of the Puget Sound League. At the end of the first half the South End champs found themselves on the short end of a 30-12 score. Finally finding themselves in the fourth quarter, they put on a mighty surge, only to fall short by 6 points and lose the game 47-41.

Named captain by his teammates this year was Keith Peterson who also led the scoring with 75 points. Jensen and Daugherty were second and third, with 58 and 57 points respectively. Lettermen this year were Dall, Bogrand, Jensen, Peterson, Daugherty, Tallman, Hammermaster, Gorow, Krummel, Hite, Hoover, and the freshman manager Rose.

Hit and Run

At the time of the publication of the VIKING in the spring of 1949, the final outcome of the league standing was not yet determined. After the sound of wood against leather had died and the dust had cleared, the Vikings emerged in a three-way tie for first with Renton and Enumclaw.

When the copy went to press this spring, the Viking baseballers were again enjoying a successful season. With a number of returning lettermen, along with some outstanding prospects, Coach Wasmund has molded a team which began the season with three wins in league play. A game with Renton was called in the early inning because of rain, but this game was to be replayed.

Several outstanding batsmen have studded the team this year to help back some good pitching by Sid Names and Max Braman. Senior members of the managerial staff this year were Art Foxford and Harold Rohlman.

Tape Breakers

Iverson pulls himself into a bundle as he skims the bar in the Conference Meet.

With a large turnout of boys, Coach Harshman's Viking track squad turned in impressive victories in their first two meets. In the third meet Clover Park and Renton came out ahead of the Vikings.

In the Centralia Relays Puyallup placed third out of 25 schools. The Junior 440-yard relay was won for the third time in four years by the Vikings.

In the Highline Relays the Vikings garnered fifth place out of thirteen competing schools. Following this a group of boys who had not yet earned letters traveled to Fife and subdued the hosts and Kapowsin. In a triangular meet at Highline, the Vikings bowed to Highline but finished ahead of Kent-Meridian.

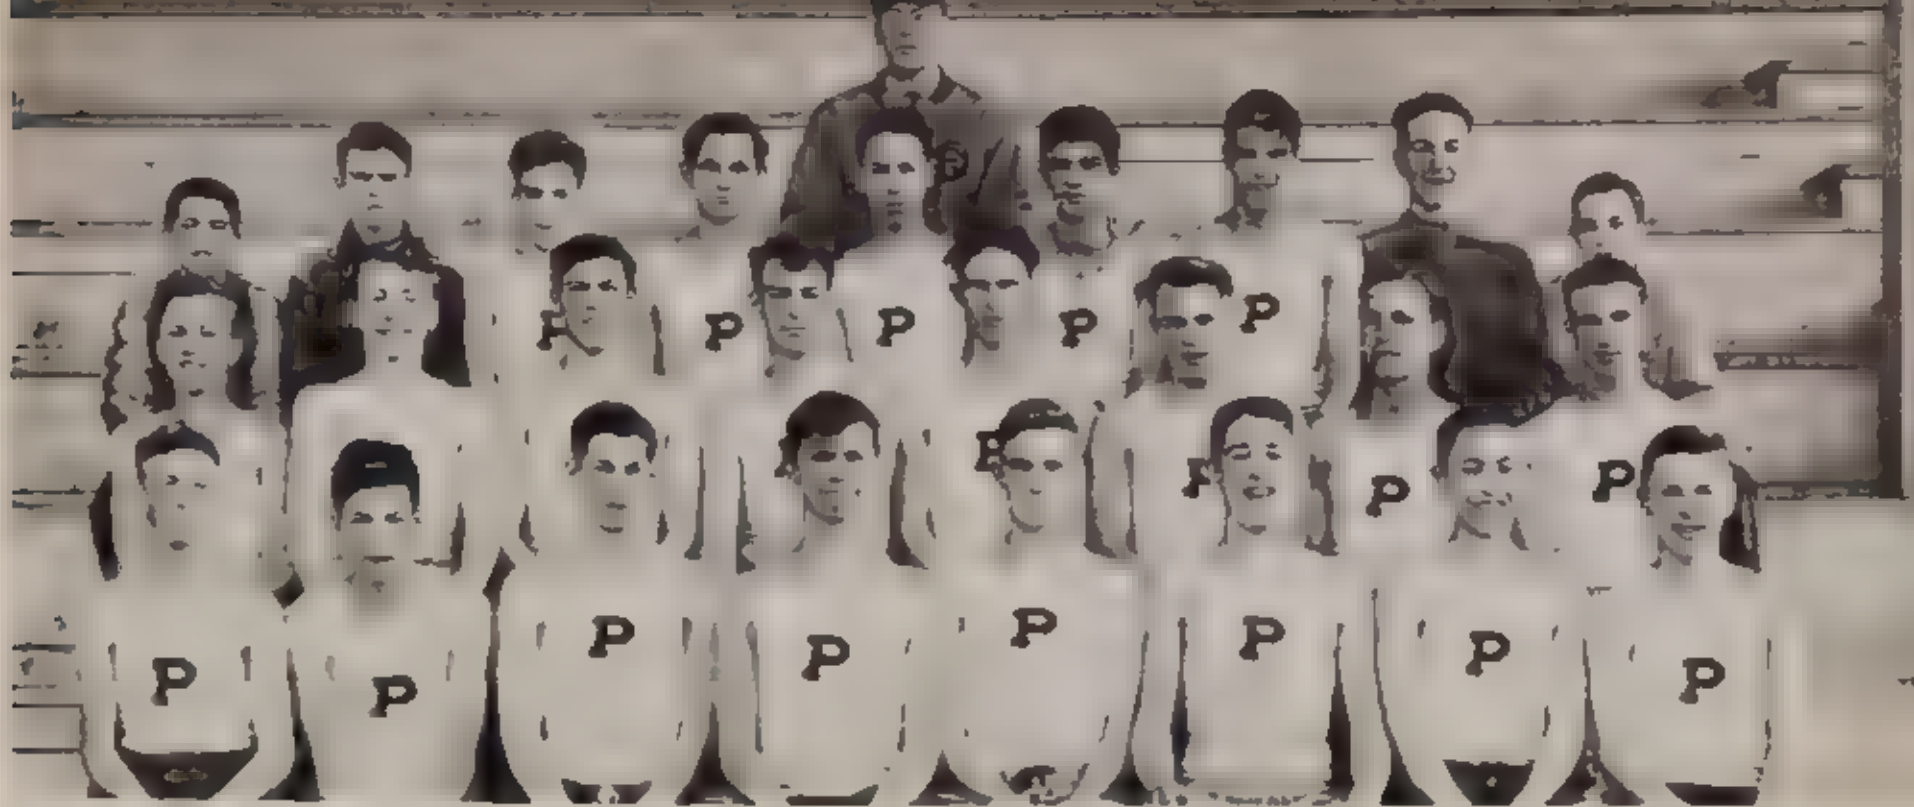

In the South End Qualifying Meet at Viking Field, Clover Park had 45 points; Puyallup, 37½; Sumner, 25; Auburn, 24½; and White River, 11. In the Conference Meet here it was Clover Park and Renton first. Puyallup tied with Sumner for fifth place honors, with three men qualifying for the West Central District Meet.

Cinder Men

Coach Art Larson again guided the Junior High Track team through a successful season, with the shuttle hurdle team doing especially well.

In the first meet of the year the Baby Viks come out on top with 45 points; Lake Washington, second, with 33; and Sumner had 12. Their second victory came in the next meet with White River and Puget Sound. Scores were 50½, 36½, and 3 respectively. In the third meet of the year Clover Park and Renton turned the tables on Puyallup to the tune of 41, 29½, and 19½ respectively.

Clover Park again edged the Vikings by a 40 to 30 score in a meet a little over a week later. Winning ways were found again at Highline by the score of 57½ points to Highline's 18½ and Kent-Meridian's 14. In the South End Qualifying Meet it was White River—29 1/5, Clover Park—29, Puyallup 26 4/5, Sumner—13, and Puget Sound—1. In the Conference Meet May 5 Puyallup placed fourth behind Renton, Clover Park, and White River.

Going into its third year the Puyallup tennis team began to show increasing strength. Coach Vollen has been working with his most promising candidates and this year the fruits of his work have begun to show. In the near future Puyallup should once again produce tennis teams that can be a challenge to any team in the league.

Mainstays throughout the year were Delores Sagmiller in the girls' singles; David Hutchinson, boys' singles; Dorothy Babnick and Janet Gregory, girls' doubles; Clio Maass and George Morgan, boys' doubles; and Donna Shipley and Roger Anderson in the mixed doubles. The boys' and girls' doubles teams were particularly strong. At the time of this writing each of the aforementioned teams had lost but one of its matches, including both the practice matches and the league matches. In preseason matches the Viking netmen split with Fife, each school winning one match. The first three league matches found Puyallup bowing to powerful Highline 1 to 4, swamping Auburn 5 to 0, and losing a close one to Kent-Meridian 2 to 3.

Fore!

For the first time in several years a golf team was formed to represent Puyallup on the grassy links. Mark Hipkins was chosen to coach the team, and practices were held at the Linden Golf course where the boys were ranked according to their ability. In the competition before the publication of the annual, the Puyallup team had defeated White River 15 to 0, winning all the games. They won over Lincoln in two matches, each with 8½ to 6½ points, and over Lake Washington 12 to 3.

Sumner, Enumclaw, Buckley, Clover Park, and Puyallup lunch together at the G.A.A. playday

The feminine athletes of this school began the year under the leadership of Treva Rudnick, president; Miriam Bearse, vice-president; Jayne Calligan, secretary treasurer; Genevieve Beyler, sports manager; and Miss Doris Pittman, adviser. Volleyball turnouts were first on the agenda, followed by the selection of class and honor teams. The coming of basketball season found the girls ready and waiting to get into the game. Most of the basketball turnouts were held at Maplewood school; and, because of the large number turning out, the games were shorter than usual.

Tumbling and ping pong began at once, giving the girls a choice. Besides the regular tumbling turnout, there was a tumbling team supervised by Mrs. Kern. Meanwhile the ping pong practice games were played and then the tournament began.

The latter part of the year was taken up by softball and tennis. The girls turned out for softball approximately three nights a week; while those turning out for tennis put in fifteen hours of practice. Girls playing on the tennis team also received points for G.A.A.

The new members of G.A.A. were initiated in February. Upon arrival at the school, they were all decked out in war paint and their hair was fixed with molasses and flour. Then, jumping rope, they were raced down town, stopping occasionally to do calisthenics. Then they went back to the school for cookies, punch, potato chips, and potato salad.

Necessary requirements for a girl who wants to become a G.A.A. member are: the girl must turn out for four of the six sports offered; she must earn one hundred and fifty points more by taking thirty-six mile bike rides or hikes, making an honor team, or participating in any one of several other outside activities offered. The girls must work to become members, and they must work to remain members.

Seven bells, second watch, and thirty-three girls of varying sizes sleepily enter the gymnasium of Puyallup High School. These girls who turned out faithfully every Tuesday and Friday morning form the well-known drill team. The drill team this year performed at two football games, two basketball games, and in the rain which accompanied the annual daffodil parade. As the girls prepare to write finis to this year, they will stow away many fond memories of second watch, seven bells.

The Senior High Yell Team was composed of two boys and two girls. Despite the temporary loss of the King and Queen, Puyallup's leaders ended the year with a fine record.

Under the zestful leadership of an all-girl yell team, Junior High took top honors in the field of sports.

Scholastic Leaders

Phyllis Roney, valedictorian, has maintained a grade point average of 97.2 through her senior high years. In addition to this she has been a member of Honor Society for three years, Girls' Club Cabinet two years, an usherette in her junior year, a member of Latineers, Pep Club, has served on Prom and Hop committees, and the season ticket committee, and is a member of Puyallup Tri Hi-Y. Her future plans are to enter Tacoma General Hospital School of Nursing in the fall.

The first boy since 1945 to win top scholastic honors in P.H.S., Dick Huber, salutatorian, was another who was active in school groups even though he earned a grade average of 96.7. Dick was a member of Viking Hi-Y, Ski Club, Honor Society, Boys' Glee Club, and turned out for track and basketball. He has supported the class of '50 by serving on the committees for the various class dances—the Sophomore Hop, Junior Prom, and Senior Ball. In his sophomore year he also turned out for baseball.

To be eligible for membership in the Honor Society a student's grades from the previous year must total to a B average. That person must also participate in at least two activities. Members received different pins again this year, according to the number of years they have belonged to the club.

Under the guidance of Miss Helen Alexander, the group held their meetings during fourth periods. Jackie Richter served as president this year, with Janet Gregory as vice president and Julia Snyder as secretary-treasurer.

In Retrospect

The ship has docked, and the seniors are ready to go ashore. While the rest of the crew prepare for another voyage, we descend the gangplank and venture onto land. Our voyage has ended. No more will we feel the excitement of the first day, when everyone is gay and eager; never again will we walk down the crowded halls to the tune of friendly hellos, stopping to chat with friends and being secure in the knowledge that we belong. We have experienced for the last time the thrill of anticipation brought on when school is dismissed because of snow.

There will be more games and more victories, but the thrill and excitement will not be the same. The players won't be OUR boys and the yell leaders OUR friends; the kids at the gates and hot dog stands will smile politely, but a polite smile doesn't take the place of the wide, friendly grins and the welcoming shouts. We'll be remembered for a while, but soon the crew will become engrossed in activities and we will be forgotten. Other personalities will overshadow ours; and better records will be set, excelling and obliterating those which have been so proudly left by the class of 1950.

In passing, we'd like to express thanks to the teachers who have put up with our whims and fantasies and have been our friends, giving advice, praise, and reproach when needed; to the underclassmen who have looked up to us, bolstering our ego, and who cried as we said our final good-byes; to the custodians who have teased and laughed with us; to the halls and classrooms that, for us, will always echo our laughter and good times; and to those who have made our 1950 VIKING one of the best ever.

A special word of appreciation goes to Miss Sorenson for advice on the art work; to the William Lee, Ketrang, and Krug Studios for photography; to the Puyallup Valley Tribune; to the businessmen who have supported us with their advertising; and to the teachers and office personnel for their helpful cooperation.

To the underclassmen we leave this, our log—the 1950 VIKING—in hopes that as they look at it in years to come they will remember us, the half-century class.

Now the gangplank has been raised and the ship is pulling away, leaving us on the dock, waving sadly. And so we say farewell to the Vikings.
